PREFACE.

There has long been felt a want for a complete Directory and Guide to Terre Haute, and it was the expression of this want, by many of our leading merchants, that has led to the publication of this work.

In the first edition of a Directory, there will be trifling inaccuracies and omissions, caused chiefly by the imperfect information we occasionally receive, for all of which we ask the indulgence of the public; and as it is our intention to continue the publication of the Directory as often as it is thought desirable, we hope to profit by the experience we have had, and to be enabled to make many valuable improvements in succeeding issues.

Many thanks are due to those who have advertised in the work, thereby benefiting themselves and aiding very materially the undertaking; we trust the manner in which the cards are displayed will prove satisfactory.

The compiler takes this opportunity of acknowledging the kind services of CHAS. CRUFT, Esq., in furnishing the History of the County, together with a Sketch of the City and Fort Harrison. He would also return thanks to WM. K. EDWARDS, Esq., for the interest he has taken in the work, and for various items he has furnished for it.

In conclusion, the book is thrown upon a generous public, with the hope that whatever imperfections it may have, will be kindly overlooked, and that it may meet with the satisfactory reception which the Publisher has labored to achieve.

VIGO COUNTY.

The county of Vigo is situated in the extreme western tier of counties of the State of Indiana, about midway of the State. It contains four hundred square miles, and was organized in 1818. The County was named in honor of Colonel Francis Vigo—then a resident of Vincennes—known, in the history of the times, as the "Spanish merchant," who had been conspicuous for many patriotic acts towards the Government in the early wars of the west, and particularly for the noble part he had borne in the "Illinois campaign" of Col. George Rogers Clark. The surface of the County is generally level, or gently undulating, with an agreeable alternation of prairie and woodland. The soil is uniformly good. It is well watered—the Wabash River flowing nearly through the County from north to south—while many tributary creeks pass into it from all parts of the County. The territory now comprising Vigo, was originally part of Sullivan County. The new County was organized by an act of the Legislature, then sitting at Corydon, January, 21st, 1818. The following is the act, viz:

AN ACT FOR THE FORMATION OF A NEW COUNTY OFF OF THE COUNTY OF SULLIVAN.

APPROVED JANUARY 21st, 1818.

SEC, 1st. Be it enacted by the General assembly of the State of Indiana, That from the fifteenth day of February next, all that part of the County of Sullivan, included in the following bounds, shall form and constitute a new County, that is to say; Beginning at a point on the Wabash River, where the section line between fractions fourteen and twenty-three, in range eleven west, township ten north strikes the same; thence east with said line to where it intersects the range line dividing ranges six and seven west, township ten north; thence north with said range line to the Indian boundary; thence north with said boundary to the division line between the State of Indiana and the Illinois Territory: thence south with said line to where it strikes the Wabash river; thence down said river to the place of beginning.

Sec. 2nd. The said new county shall from and after the fifteenth day of February next be known and designated by the name and style of Vigo County, and it shall enjoy all the rights, privileges and jurisdictions which to a seperate county do or may properly appertain and belong.

Sec. 3rd. That Elihu Stout of Knox county, John Allen of Daviess county, Charles Scott of Sullivan county, James D. Jones of Gibson county and Martin G. Clark of Washington county, be, and they are hereby appointed Commissioners to designate the place for the seat of justice of Vigo county, agreeably to an act entitled "An act for fixing the seats of justice in all new counties hereafter to be laid off." The Commissioners above named, shall convene at the house of Trueman Blackman in the neighborhood of Fort Harrison, on the third Monday in March next, and then proceed to discharge the duties assigned them by law.

Sec. 4th. The Board of Commissioners, of said new county of Vigo, shall, within twelve months after the permanent seat of justice shall have been established, proceed to erect the necessary public buildings thereon

Sec. 5th. Until suitable accomodations can be had, in the opinion of the Circuit Court, at the seat of justice of said new county, all the courts of justice of the same, shall meet at the house of Trueman Blackman, near Fort Harrison, from whence they may adjourn, if they think proper, to any other suitable place near the centre of said new county, and so soon as the public buildings are, in the opinion of the circuit court, in a sufficient state of forwardness for their accomodation, the courts shall adjourn to the county seat; and after that time the Circuit Court and all other courts necessary to be holden at the seat of justice of the county aforesaid, shall be held at the county seat established for said county.

Sec. 6th. Whenever the seat of justice of the said new county shall have been established, the person or persons authorized by law to lay off the lots and sell the same, shall reserve ten per centum, on the nett proceeds of the whole sale of said lots, for the use of a county library in said new county, which sum or sums of money so received, shall be paid over to such person or persons as may be authorized to receive the same, in such manner and in such instalments as shall be authorized by law.

Sec. 7th. Be it further enacted, That the said County of Vigo, which was formerly a part of Sullivan, shall form a part of the respective counties of Knox, Daviess and Sullivan, for the purpose of electing Senators and Representatives to the General Assembly, until otherwise directed by law, in the same manner as if this act had not passed.

Sec. 8th. This act to take effect and be in force from and after its publication.

Under this act the Commissioners appointed to establish the county seat, selected the town of Terre Haute, on 21st March, 1818.

The following persons were chosen as the first officers of the county during the same month, viz:

Curtis Gilbert, Clerk and Recorder.

Trueman Blackman, Sheriff.
Alexander Barnes, Coroner.
Moses Hoggatt, James Barnes, } Associate Judges.
John Hamilton, Isaac Lambert, Ezra Jones, } County Commissioners.

The first session of the Circuit Court held in the county commenced on 27th April, 1818, and was conducted by the Associate Judges, at the house of Trueman Blackman. The county was then attached to the first judicial circuit. The records show the following persons to be the first Attorney's admitted to practice in the county, viz: Geo. R. C. Sullivan, Samuel Whittelsey, Jonathan Doty and Wm. P. Bennett. On the 27th July following the regular term of Court was held at the house of Richard Redford in Terre Haute, by Hon. Thomas H. Blake, President Judge.

The population of Vigo County, at the various dates of the general census, were as follows, viz:

1830,	5,737,
1840,	12,076,
1850,	15,289,

The present population is rated, by careful estimate, at 24,000. Since the census of 1850 there has been, undoubtedly, an increase of over fifty per cent. in the population of the county, and over one hundred in wealth and resources. The various public improvements have made it quite accessible on all quarters, and done much to develop its resources within the few years past. There are several thrifty villages in different parts of the county; the principal of which are Prairieton, Lockport and Centreville, in the southern, —and St. Mary's and Sandford, in the western part.

FORT HARRISON.

The site of this old fort is about three miles above Terre Haute, in Vigo county. In early days it was a place of considerable importance. The old "Indian Line" crossed the territory just above the fort, and it was for several years the frontier garrison of the west. There are no traces, however, now remaining of the old structure. The following account of the attack upon the fort, and its gallant defense by General ZACHARY TAYLOR, in 1812, is extracted from a lecture delivered by Charles Cruft, Esq., before the "Vigo Historical Society" some years since:

In the month of September, 1811, Gen. Harrison advanced up the Wabash with a detachment of troops under his command, and selected the site of Fort Harrison—a beautiful eminence on the east bank of the Wabash river—three miles above this village.—During the months of September and October, the trees were felled, the timber hewn out, and the walls of the fort erected.

These consisted of a rough palisade or stockade of heavy timber, about one hundred and fifty feet square. The north-west and south-west corners terminated in blockhouses (small buildings in the corners forming part of the walls.) The opposite angles terminated in bastions, which projected sufficiently to command the outside of the walls in two directions. The block-houses and bastions were two stories high, and pierced on both faces with embrasures, above and below, through which to fire upon the enemy. Within the fortifications and forming the western line, were the soldiers' barracks—rude, log huts. The gate opened towards the east. On the north side of this was the guard-house, on the south the magazine, and near it the well. Along the northern line were the stables, sheds, &c., for the accommodation of the garrison.

* * * * * * * * *

In 1812 the fort was under command of Captain Zachary Taylor, of the 7th Infantry, garrisoned by a company of that regiment. In the fall of this year there was a general state of sickness throughout the entire Wabash valley. A kind of epidemical fever swept throughout the whole country.

The company at Fort Harrison were nearly all unwell, to such a degree as to be incapacitated from service. This fact became known, it is thought, to the Indians.

The wily Prophet, slightly recovering from his defeat at Tippecanoe, in the November previous, and aided by the British, planned an expedition against Fort Harrison.

On Thursday, September 3d, 1812, immediately after retreat-beating, the discharge of four guns was heard by the inmates of the fort, in the direction where two young men had been engaged in making hay, only about four hundred yards distant. The commander immediately conjectured that these young men had been killed by the Indians, but the lateness of the hour prevented sending out to see. They did not return, and at 8 o'clock on the following morning a corporal, with a small party, was dispatched in search of them, being cautioned against an ambuscade. The officer soon discovered their bodies and brought them into the fort. They had been each shot with two balls, scalped, and mutilated in a horrible manner.

Late in the evening of that day (4th September, 1812) an old Chief, by the name of Lemar, with some thirty or forty Indians—principally Chiefs of the various tribes comprising the Prophet's party—arrived in sight of the fort, bearing a white flag. A Shawanese Indian, who spoke good English, announced to Capt. Taylor that Lenar wished to speak with him, in a friendly manner, on the following morning, and try to obtain some provisions.

This was a stratagem calculated to allay suspicion and put him off his guard: how successful, the sequel will discover.

At retreat-beating that night the commanding officer personally examined the soldiers' arms, found them in good order, and distributed cartridges to complete their number to sixteen rounds each. Owing to the illness of the garrison, it had been impossible for some time previous to mount a guard of more than six privates and two non-commissioned officers.

"From the unhealthiness of my company," says Capt. Taylor, in his dispatches to Gov. Harrison, immediately after the battle, "I had not conceived my force "adequate to the defense of this post, should it be vigor- "ously attacked, for some time past!" He had himself just recovered from a severe attack of fever, and was unable to be up much during the night. When about to retire he cautioned the guard to be most vigilant, and ordered one of the non commissioned officers to walk round the inside during the whole night, as the sentinels could not, from their position, see every part of the fortification, and an attack was expected before morning. Nor were these precautionary measures unneeded.

About 11 o'clock at night the garrison were alarmed by the firing of one of the sentinels. The commanding officer immediately sprang up and ordered the men to their posts. It was soon discovered that the Indians had fired the lower block-house, containing the property of the army contractor. The discharge of guns soon commenced briskly on both sides, but the alarm of "FIRE!" spread great consternation within the fort and the men were slow in executing the orders given. Such was the extreme darkness of the night that, although the upper part of the block-house was occupied by a corporal's guard as an alarm post, yet it was fired undiscovered, in several holes which the cattle had licked out after the salt stored there.

In a few moments the flames communicated to a quantity of whisky contained below, and ascending to the roof, spread with fearful rapidity, baffling every effort to stay it. As the block-house adjoined the barracks—which constituted one line of the fortifications—most of the men gave themselves up for lost. Indeed the raging of the fire, the hideous yells of the blood-thirsty savages, the cries of the women and children who had taken refuge in the fort, the shrill report of the rifle, the darkness of the night, the weakness of the garrison and the vast superiority of the enemy, were enough to appal the stoutest heart.

Fortunately, however, the presence of mind of the commanding officer never forsook him. While the fire was raging he ordered water to be brought, and placed a number of the men upon the roof of the barracks, with orders to tear off that part next adjoining the burning house, while the remainder poured a heavy fire upon the Indians from the other block-house and bastions.

The roof was torn off under a shower of bullets, with the loss of but one man killed and two wounded. This success inspired the desponding soldiers, and prevented the flames from spreading.

The garrison then set to work with such alacrity that they had, before day, erected a temporary breastwork across the gap occasioned by the burning of the block-house, although the Indians continued to pour a heavy fire of balls and showers of barbed arrows into every part of the fort, during the whole seven hours that the attack lasted.

On the first appearance of the fire two of the best soldiers leaped over the pickets, in despair; towards day one of them returned, shockingly wounded: the other was cut to pieces by the savages.

After keeping up a constant fire until 6 o'clock in the morning—which was returned with great effect by the garrison after daybreak—the Indians retreated without the reach of the guns of the fort. They then drove together all the horses and hogs belonging to the garrison and citizens, and shot them in their sight.

They drove off with them all the cattle belonging to the fort, amounting to seventy or more.

In this attack the garrison had but six killed and wounded! The loss of the Indians was much greater, but as they were sufficiently strong to carry off their dead and wounded, they could never be accurately ascertained. At the time of the attack there were but fifteen effective men in the garrison, the remainder being either sick or convalescent, while the force of the Indians amounted to several hundred.

Disheartened by the ill success of their first attack, the Indians made no further attempt on the fort, although they remained during the next day in the vicinity, and at length retreated to White river, committing depredations on a small settlement in that vicinity.

The garrison of the fort, however, were still in a perilous situation, from the want of provisions. Having lost their stores by fire and cattle by the Indians, they were compelled to subsist on green corn.

Capt. Taylor immediately attempted to send intelligence of his situation to Gov. Harrison, at Vincennes, and dispatched two men in a canoe down the river. They were intercepted by the Indians, and forced to return. He next dispatched his orderly sergant and another man (through the woods) by land. They reached the Governor, and the garrison were soon relieved by a force of Kentucky volunteers under Gen. Hopkins, amounting to near four thousand men; which, after the relief of Fort Harrison, were ordered to make a campaign against the Indian tribes in the vicinity of the Peoria towns.

Capt. Taylor, for his gallant conduct in defense of Fort Harrison, was, upon recommendation of Gen Harrison, promoted to a brevet majority, being the oldest brevet upon the Army Register. Since that moment he continued to rise in the army, by promotion on account of field services; was distinguished beyond any other Major General in the Mexican war; and, finally, was elected President of the United States in 1848.

TERRE HAUTE.

The beautiful City of Terre Haute is situated upon a high, level plateau, on the east bank of the Wabash river, in Vigo county, Indiana. Its position on the map of our country, is 39° 28′ north latitude, and 10° 20′ longitude west from Washington. The site is remarkably level and beautiful, and in this respect is not perhaps surpassed by any place in the western country. The streets are rectangular and with the points of the compass, wide, spacious, clean, and generally ornamented with fine shade trees, and lighted with gas. The city lies upon the western margin of "Fort Harrison Prairie," and from this peculiarity of location, many years since received the sobriquet of the "Prairie City," by which it is now known far and wide.

The name Terre Haute is composed of two French words, signifying "high land," and was doubtless suggested by some of the old French traders of the valley. Nor is it entirely inappropriate, the level of the town being some fifty feet above the low water flow of the river.

The town of Terre Haute was laid out by a company of individuals, in 1816. This company was constituted by articles of agreement bearing date September 19th of that year. It consisted of Cuthbert Bullitt and Thomas Bullitt of Louisville, Kentucky, Abraham Markle of Fort Harrison, Hyacinth Laselle of Vincennes, and Jonathan Lindley of Orange county, Indiana. It was originally styled the "Terre Haute Company," and from them are derived all the original titles to the lots of the place. This company held patents from the United States for their lands, described in their articles as "thirteen tracts of land on the River Wabash, in the vicinity of Fort Harrison." The interests of the proprietors represented twelve shares; of these Lindley had four, Markle three, Lasalle three, and C. and T. Bullitt two. It is said that the site first chosen for the town was the spot, some three miles south of present location, still known as "Old Terre Haute." This, however, was abandoned for the more pleasing one now occupied.

During the first operations of the "Terre Haute Company," Joseph Kitchell of Palestine, Illinois, acted as their agent, by virtue of a power of attorney dated 16th September, 1816. He was afterwards supercceded by John Owens of Salem, Indiana, whose appointment bears date of October 16, 1817. These agents attended to the sales and managed the business of the company. The boundaries of the town, as originally laid out, included thirty-five blocks of in-lots, extending along the river from the north side of Swan Street to the south side of Eagle Street, and eastward from the river to the west side of Fifth Street, comprising the present city lots from number one to two hundred and eighty. The first sales of lots were made in the fall of 1816. During this fall and the ensuing spring, quite a number of families moved to Fort Harrison; the village, however, increased but little during the year 1817, there being only a few cabins erected on the town plat.

In January, 1818, Vigo County was organized, and in the March following Terre Haute was selected as the county seat. This was the first upward impulse it received. To show how important the company considered its selection as the county seat, may be inferred from the amount of lots and cash they paid the commissioners therefor. In consideration of the location, the company conveyed eighty lots and the public square, of eight lots, to the county commissioners, and paid into the treasury in cash and mortgage bonds, four thousand dollars.

The years 1819, 1820 and 1821, were noted throughout the Wabash Valley for the general sickness which prevailed. A kind of epidemical fever seemed to sweep over the whole country, and scarcely a family was exempt from its ravages. These years are well remembered by the few of the old inhabitants of Terre Haute who now remain. The town, in common with others throughout the valley, suffered much; this, for some time, retarded its prosperity and that of the surrounding country; it, however, continued to increase slowly and with a good class of population. During the few years succeeding 1820, many of those who have since been among its most enterprising and prominent citizens, arrived. The most numerous class of these early settlers was from the New England states. They were men of intelligence, taste and energy, and contributed largely, thus early, to form for the place the enviable social and business character it has since maintained.

There are many pleasing incidents connected with the first settlement and subsequent growth of the city, allusion to which the space allotted to this sketch will not permit. From 1820 down to 1850, the place has continued with a steady but slow increase; since 1850, it has more than doubled in population and importance, and the better class of its buildings have been erected.

The present population of Terre Haute is between ten and eleven thousand, and is steadily increasing. There has been, however, no accurate census taken for some years past. The population shown by the general census of the United States in 1850, was 4,051; in 1854, an enumeration exhibited a population of 7,000. In point of intelligence, energy and business character, its citizens will compare favorably with any others of the State. Nearly all the property of the city is owned by actual residents; and it is a significant mark of the thrift of the citizens, that almost every householder is also a freeholder and owns a residence.

Its healthfulness is not surpassed by any place of its size, as is shown by its mortuary statistics, published monthly by the municipal authorities. The soil on which the city stands is a rich, porous loam, insuring speedy drainage, and overlies a basin of fine limestone water, furnishing at all points an unfailing supply to its wells. The public buildings, business houses and dwellings are beautiful, and many of them equal to those of any city.

There is a great degree of taste and elegance displayed in the grounds, shrubbery and lawns surrounding the private dwellings. In this respect, perhaps Terre Haute has not an equal in the State. In the early settlement of the place, great attention was paid to the planting of shade trees on the margins of the streets and throughout the public grounds. The black locust of the country was universally chosen. Some three years since this variety of tree was wholly destroyed by the "borer" insect, and the city robbed of some of its beauty. Formerly, in the season when the locusts were in bloom and the air of the spring was laden with the perfume of their flowers, the city seemed like the garden of an enchanter. The loss of the locusts is being speedily regained by the planting of the maple and other varieties of native forest trees, which, in a few years, will surpass in their loveliness the pioneer locusts.

It is one of the most accessible points in the State. The Wabash river is navigable a portion of the year for steamers of the largest class. During its navigation, steamers load from any of the Ohio or Mississippi ports direct for this place. It is connected with Lake Erie and the Ohio river by the Wabash and Erie canal, which passes through the entire Wabash valley and furnishes a convenient mode of transportation for all heavy commodities; there is, also, a direct communication with the Ohio river southward, by the Evansville and Crawfordsville railroad. The Terre Haute and Richmond railroad furnishes a direct connection with all the roads centering at Indianapolis. The Terre Haute, Alton and St. Louis railroad, passing through the fertile prairies of Illinois, gives a direct connection with the Mississippi at both Alton and St. Louis. The old "National Road" passes through the city. The bridge and other improvements of the "Terre Haute Draw Bridge Company" render it easily accessible from the west, and good wagon roads extend from the city to all surrounding parts of the country, and its environs furnish as charming drives as may be found in the western country.

Terre Haute has always been noted for the amount of its mercantile trade. From its foundation to the present time, it has furnished a very large market for merchandize of every kind, and has been conspicuous for the number, probity, wealth and energy of its merchants as a class. There are now in the city some eighty large retail stores, displaying every variety of stocks, with an honorable and manly competition for the trade. There are, also, several large wholesale grocery and liquor stores, five large drug stores, six large clothing stores, three boot and shoe stores, two book stores, four large hardware stores, three leather stores, and an innumerable variety of provision, confectionary, and other small establishments.

The credit of its merchants abroad has always been good, and well sustained. It is worthy of note, that there have been fewer failures among its merchants than that of any western city of its size. There is a large accumulation of actual capital in the hands of its merchants, which is continually increasing. The most wealthy citizens of the place were numbered among its early merchants. The amount of merchandize of all kinds retailed in the city, has doubtless reached, for five years past, the annual average of $1,000,000.

The banks of the city are three in number, viz:—The "Terre Haute Branch of the Bank of the State of Indiana," the "Prairie City Bank," and "Southern Bank." These represent an aggregate capital of $500,000, with a circulation somewhat greater. These banks have been skillfully managed, always sustained themselves under every pressure, and passed through the late financial crash without suspension or trouble. In addition to these chartered banks, there are two large private banking houses. One of the latter (Watson & Shannon) has a large local circulation. It may be noted in respect to Judge Watson's bank notes, that for twenty years past he has maintained a large circulation for them in western Indiana and eastern Illinois, which has been unquestioned and popular during every condition of the money market and under every embarrassment of the financial world. He has never failed to redeem on presentation, and it would be exceedingly difficult to persuade the farmers and merchants of this vicinity that there is any currency safer than the well known "Watson money."

The principal trade of Terre Haute, so far as amount of investment is concerned, has been in the article of pork. The first pork establishment was erected in the place in 1824, by the Gilman Brothers, now of St. Louis; since that time there have been built many large and expensive establishments for the slaughtering and packing of hogs. The principal establishments of this day are those of Messrs. H. D. Williams & Co., Paddock & McGregor, B. McKeen & Co., Wilson & Co., Humaston & Co., and Jacob D. Early.

The annual number of hogs packed in this city during the ten years past, have been as follows:

YEARS.	No. of Hogs.	YEARS.	No. of Hogs.
1848.....	54,750	1853.....	78,809
1849.....	64,066	1854.....	69,976
1850...	70,548	1855.....	18,562
1851.....	66,851	1856.....	49,150
1852.....	108,791	1857.....	49,151

The average number is, say 66,000 per annum. The average amount of cash annually invested in the hog trade, including salt, cooperage, &c., will probably reach $750,000. In the article of beef, also, there has been quite a large trade for a few years past. In addition to this trade in pork and beef, Terre Haute has always furnished a large market for grain. The shipments of wheat and corn and other grain from this point for the ten years past, have been very large; reaching, perhaps, an average of $500,000. These articles were, until late years, exported exclusively by river; the more bulky in flat boats, and others by steamers. Since the completion of the canal and railways, however, the business of the river has ceased to be of so much importance.

The trade in lumber, brick and building materials, is now and has been very large for a few years past. Very heavy stocks of lumber are kept at the various lumber yards, and large quantities annually shipped from this point to the prairies of Illinois. The finest qualities of brick are also manufactured at the brick-yards of the city, in quantities to admit of exportation to some extent.

Terre Haute offers fine inducements for all kinds of manufacturing business: fuel and labor are cheap and abundant; the eastern portion of Illinois and southern part of Indiana, furnish a good market to manufacturers; but little, however, has been done, as yet, in this line. The principal manufactories of the place at present, are three large founderies and machine shops, three flouring mills, two woolen factories, one plow manufactory, six brick-yards, two planing mills, one extensive distillery, one large stave and barrel factory, one furniture manufactory, one soap and candle factory, one steam boiler manufactory, one blank book manufactory, three carriage manufactories, gas works, and the extensive machine shops connected with the various railroads. That this place is well adapted to manufactures, does not admit of doubt. It is surrounded by extensive and fine coal fields, the nearest within two miles; good quarries of building stone lie near; iron ores of fine quality are also in convenient proximity, and with every facility for transportation by canal, river and railroad. A shaft sunk in the nearest coal field west of the river, has recently discovered iron ore of good quality.

The company owning the large iron fields below this city, on the canal, have had in contemplation the erection of an extensive rolling mill and other iron works at this place; the consummation of this design should be ardently hoped for by the citizens of the place, and the great benefit that would result therefrom to the city at large, furnishes a strong appeal to its capitalists to take the stock therein whenever it may be offered.

There are published in the city three daily and weekly newspapers: the "Wabash Express," "Terre Haute Journal," and "Terre Haute Union," representing the three political parties respectively—Republican, Democrat, and American. These papers have each a good circulation and patronage. The "Wabash Courier," which had been published for the long term of twenty-six years, has recently been merged with the Express. There is, also, one large Job Printing Office.

There are five large hotels in the city: the "Terre Haute House," (formerly "Prairie House,") "National Hotel," "Buntin's Hotel," "Clark House," and "Stewart House," beside several of less size. The first named is perhaps the largest and most commodious hotel in the State. They are all well kept, by enterprizing, clever landlords, who vie with each other in polite attentions to their guests, and leave upon the memory of the passing sojourner a pleasant impression of the place.

The city now enjoys good facilities for extinguishment of fires. There are three well organized and efficient volunteer companies of firemen, viz: the "Mohawk, No. 1," "Vigo, No. 2," and "Northern Liberty, No. 3." These companies are now well provided with the necessary apparatus, and stimulated by an honorable rivalry are accomplishing a great deal for the security of the city from conflagrations. Connected with the fire department there are, also, several hose and hook and ladder companies. The supply of water, from river, canal, and the large number of private cisterns, is fair, but the municipal authorities are constantly adding to this by the construction of public cisterns at all important points; they are also providing better accommodations for the firemen, in the erection of good brick engine houses.

There are two regular markets in the city, held daily, under the municipal regulations. These are abundantly supplied with all the products of the country. Perhaps there is no point in the western country where finer meats and vegetables are offered in markets and shops; the choicest game and fish of the season, too, may always be had. In addition to these, with the facilities offered by the various railways, almost every table luxury of the seaboard is constantly offered for sale in our city at reasonable rates.

The educational facilities of Terre Haute are good, and annually increasing. There are now owned by the city, four large and commodious brick buildings devoted to public schools: two of these buildings are, perhaps, the largest and most convenient in the State devoted to similar purposes. In addition to these there are many private schools, which are commanding a good patronage; among the latter, now in operation, may be noted St. Vincent's academy for girls, under the control of the Sisters of Providence of St. Mary's. The new female college situated on Sixth Street, in the lower part of the city, is fast approaching completion. The corner stone of this institution was laid on 4th July last: three of the large buildings are now nearly finished; it is founded by John Covert, Esq., and when finished will be the most elegant and complete female college in the west. It is also said that Bishop St. Palais, of the Catholic Church, has in contemplation the speedy erection of a large university at this place. These facilities for education of youth, are contributing much to the desirability of the city as a place of residence.

Nearly every religious creed is represented in Terre Haute. Some of its churches are very spacious and beautiful. There are among the churches of the place, two Presbyterian, four Methodist, a Baptist, Episcopalian, Roman Catholic, German Lutheran, Evangelical Lutheran, Universalist, Congregationalist, and a Jewish Synagogue. The various churches are well attended, and prosperous.

In every point of view, and to every class, Terre Haute offers peculiar advantages as a place of residence. Its location is not surpassed in beauty or healthfulness. Its business is large, population active, intelligent, and liberal. There is, in proportion to the size of the city, a larger amount of actual capital than is usual in the west; among the citizens are quite a number distinguished for their large wealth. There is, in the city, as polite and refined society as may be found in the west. In the various professions there is a large degree of talent, and some of the professional men of the city occupy the foremost ranks of their calling in the State.

The place has always been distinguished for its freedom from excitements, mobs, and violence of all kinds. Politics, slavery, nor any other exciting matters, are suffered to create either public disturbance or private estrangements. In the general tone, bearing, and manners of its people, Terre Haute is said, with truth, more to resemble a southern city than any in the State.

The future prospects of the city are flattering. With a continuance of the steady increase even of the few years past, it will soon become a place of importance. If there be a speedy impulse given to its manufacturing interests by the attraction of capital from abroad and diversion of a portion of its present capital from other channels into manufacturing, it must eventually become a large inland point. For such an end nature has done everything desirable in the way of location, and the future of Terre Haute is, in a great measure, in the hands of its capitalists and business men. Will they prove to be shortsighted?

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

Terre Haute was incorporated as a town by virtue of an act of the General Assembly, approved January 26th, 1832, under the name and style of the President and Trustees of the Town of Terre Haute. The territory embraced by this act of incorporation, included the in lots of the original plat of the town, together with two tiers of out lots on the south side, three tiers on the east, two tiers on the north and one tier on the west side of the town.

In pursuance of this act, a meeting of the citizens was held at the Court House, on the 5th of March, 1832, at which Judge James B. McCall presided and William Taylor acted as Clerk.

This meeting subdivided the town into five wards, and proceeded to elect a Trustee for each ward. The following persons were chosen:

James Wasson, James B. McCall, Thomas Houghton, James Ross, and William Herrington.

The Trustees so elected held a meeting on the 7th of April, 1832, and elected the following persons, who were the first municipal officers of the town:

James B. McCall, President.
James T. Moffatt, Clerk.
Charles G. Taylor, Assessor.
Samuel Crawford, Treasurer,
William Mars, Constable and Collector.

The Trustees were elected annually thereafter and adopted sundry ordinances from time to time for the government of the town and elected officers. This system of government continued until 1838, when by a charter from the Legislature approved February 17th, 1838, it was changed.

The new charter provided for the election of a Mayor and ten Councilmen, and was to be submitted to a vote of the citizens for its adoption or rejection. At an election held March 17th, 1838. the charter was accepted by a majority of sixty-three votes,

On the first Monday of the following May, at an election for Mayor and Councilmen, the following persons were elected, who were the first officers under this charter, viz:

Elijah Tillotson, Mayor.

Curtis Gilbert, Robert Wallace, Tindall A. Madison, Samuel W. Edmunds, John F. Cruft, Thomas Houghton, Jacob D. Early, Ransom Miller, Russel Ross, John Burton—Councilmen.

The Common Council at their first meeting elected Charles T. Noble, Clerk; B. M. Harrison, Marshall, and Samuel Crawford Treasurer.

On the 10th of August, 1838, Mayor Tillotson resigned his office, and Doctor Marcus Hitchcock was elected to fill the vacancy, who held the office until June, 1839, when he resigned. On the 4th of June, 1839, Britain M. Harrison was elected by the people as Mayor. Mr. Harrison was re-elected in January, 1840, 1841, 1842, and 1843, at the regular elections.

Feb'y 9th, 1843, the office of Mayor was abolished by a special act of the Legislature, the ordinances were to be enforced by magistrates, and all the other duties of that office were transferred to the President of the Common Council.

Under the new Constitution of the State of Indiana, a general law was enacted by the Legislature, providing for the incorporation of cities, approved June 18th.

1852, authorizing towns having a population of three thousand and upwards, upon petition of one third of the voters of any town, to cause a census to be taken. It appears by the U. S. Census of 1850 that the population of Terre Haute reached then 4,051. An election was ordered on 30th April, 1843, to take the sense of the voters whether or not the town should become incorporated as a city under said act. The result of this election showed a majority of 121 in favor of such incorporation.

The first election of city officers was then ordered and held, on the 30th day of May, 1832, the whole number of votes cast was 752. The following persons were elected:

William K. Edwards, Mayor.

Noah Boyner, George F. Lyon, Henry Fairbanks, Thomas I. Bourne, James S. Wyeth, James H. Hudson, S. R. Franklin, Robt. N. Hudson, Henry Ross, Zenas Smith, Councilmen.

J. B. Edmunds, Clerk.
S. H. Taylor, Assessor.
Thos. Houghton, Treasurer.
James Oakey, Civil Engineer.
James T. Moffatt, Street Commissioner.
Thomas Robbins, Marshall.
B. B. Moffat, City Attorney.

These officers were elected for one year, and at the succeeding election, held on the second of May, 1854, the whole number of votes cast were 781, and the following persons were elected officers:

William K. Edwards, Mayor.

Chauncey Rose, Henry Ross, T. A. Madison, R. L. Thompson, Samuel Crawford, W. R. McKeen, S. R. Franklin, H. B. Smith, Henry Fairbanks, Noah Boyner, Councilmen.

I. N. Coltrin, Clerk.
T. Houghton, Treasurer.

J. E. Jones, Assessor.
J. B. Hager, Civil Engineer.
H. D. Mills, Street Commissioner.
Samuel Dodson, Marshall.

B. B. Moffatt, City Attorney.

At the election held 7th day of May, 1855, the whole number cast were 902, the following persons were elected:

James Hook, Mayor.

Henry Ross, James Wyeth, Arba Holmes, T. A. Madison, H. Jamison, R. Whary, N. W. Conn, B. M. Harrison, J. B. Edmunds, Geo. M. Sibley, Councilmen.

E. B. Allen, Clerk.

T. Houghton, Treasurer.

Wm. P. Bennett, Assessor.

Wm. J. Ball, Civil Engineer.

Jno. L. Humaston, Street Commissioner.

Samuel Dodson, Marshall.

At the election held 7th day of May, 1856, the whole number of votes cast were 1173. The following persons were elected:

C. Y. Patterson, Mayor.

Ezra Read, J. H. O'Boyle, J. G. Adams, John Haney, G. M. Sibley, G. C. Welch, W. H. Sage, J. S. Wallace, Samuel Conner, J. W. Hunley, Councilmen.

Joseph H. Blake, Clerk.

A. E. Taylor, Treasurer.

Samuel Dodson, Marshall.

Joseph E. Jones, Street Commissioner.

B. B. Ebbitt, Civil Engineer.

R. H. Hebb, Assessor.

At the election held on the 7th day of May, 1857, the whole number of votes cast were 1231. Under a revised act for the incorporation of cities the terms of office of the Mayor and one half of the Councilmen, were extended to two years. The result of the election was as follows.

C. Y. Patterson, Mayor.

Erza Read, T. C. Buntin, J. H. Kester, S. Conner, A. O. Hough, Councilmen for one year. J. S. Beach, R. Tousey, Thomas Burton, C. N. Collamer, C. R. Peddle, Councilmen for two years.

J. H. Blake, Clerk.
J. B. Edmunds, Treasurer.
C. M. Crooks, Marshall,
H. D. Mills, Street Commissioner.
I. M. Dawson, Assessor.
B. B. Ebbitt, Civil Engineer.

MISCELLANEOUS REMINISCENCES.

The following persons, now living in this city, were residents of Terre Haute in the year 1820, and previous thereto, and may, therefore, be classed with the "oldest inhabitants," viz: Chauncey Rose, Demas Deming, Curtis Gilbert, Chauncey Warren, Thomas Houghton, William Ramage, James Farrington, John Jeuckes, B. M. Harrison, George Hussey, John Sibley, Sylvester Sibley, E. M. Huntington, Mrs. Matilda Taylor, Mrs. Macom McFadden, William Mars, M. M. Hickcox, W. M. Modesitt, and James Modesitt.

The first male child born in Terre Haute was William Earle, now a successful sea captain, who still considers himself a citizen of this place.

The first female child born in Terre Haute was Miss Mary Ann McFadden, now the wife of Mr. N. B. Markle.

The two story dwelling on lot 206, corner of Ohio and Water Streets, was the first frame house erected in the place. This was built by Curtis Gilbert, Esq., in 1818.

The store rooms owned by David Linton's estate, on the west side of the public square, were the first brick houses erected in Terre Haute, except the Court House.

The first steamboat that arrived at Terre Haute, being the first that had ascended the Wabash so high, was the Florence, under command of Captain Donne. of Louisville. He was promised, by some of the proprietors, a town lot as an inducement to make the attempt. The gallant captain succeeded, arriving here in the spring of 1822, amidst the rejoicing of the pioneer inhabitants.

The first church erected was on the lots donated by the Terre Haute Company for church purposes, on the corner of 4th and Poplar Streets. It was built by the Methodists, in 1833, and occupied the site of the present "Asbury Chapel."

The first market house was situated in the centre of Market Street, just south of the intersection with Ohio Street.

Dr. C. B. Modesitt and James Farrington, Esq., established the first regular ferry across the Wabash river, in 1818.

Rev. Isaac Monfort was the first Presbyterian preacher located in the town. Dr. C. B. Modesitt was the first physician. Nath. Huntington, Esq., opened the first law office. Mr. —— Earle opened the first stock of goods in Terre Haute, in the summer of 1817.

The first newspaper published in Terre Haute was the "Terre Haute Register and General Advertiser," edited and published by John W. Osborn, now residing in this city.

WESTERN FEMALE UNIVERSITY,

TERRE HAUTE, INDIANA.

During the year 1857 the Terre Haute Female College, a Branch of the Western Female University was founded.

The corner Stone of this College was laid on the 4th day of July, 1857. Hon. R. W. Thompson of Terre Haute delivered an eloquent address on the occasion; since that time the buildings have been steadily and rapidly progressing, and it is hoped will be completed and open for pupils by the 1st day of September 1858.

The site is one of the most beautiful that could have been selected, and peculiarly adapted for the purpose. The College is situated a little south of the centre of the City, on a lot containing eight and a half acres of land, about one third of which is a Grove of native Forest Trees.

The buildings constituting the College proper are Five in number, and will accommodate about Three Hundred Pupils. The buildings are noble, architectural, structures, with all the modern appliances for comfort and elegance.

The Institution is to be furnished with a good

LIBRARY,

PHILOSOPHICAL APPARATUS, TELISCOPE,

Chemical Laboratory, Mineral Cabinet, &c,

Its founder is Rev. John Covert, who himself invests largely in it and who by the generous aid and co-operation of the citizens of Terre Haute and vicinity has, thus far, through all the financial embarrassment of the times, been able to prosecute, successfully this enterprise

☞ The institution will be open for the regular fall session about the First of September 1858.

FEMALE INSTITUTE

OF

ST. MARY'S OF THE WOODS,

NEAR TERRE HAUTE,

VIGO COUNTY, INDIANA.

Sr. Mary's Institute is about four miles from Terre Haute, located in a retired, healthy, and pleasant situation. The building is spacious, erected in a handsome style, and well adapted for the purpose of an extensive Boarding School for young Ladies. The grounds being ample and retired, present every inducement for physical exercise, without exposure to passers by; and the pupils may engage in the various sports which taste and health require, without danger of intrusion from abroad, or of becoming themselves annoyers to others.

The course of instruction embraces Orthography, Reading, Writing, Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography and History, together with all the higher branches, which constitute a thorough English education; also, French, German and Latin; Drawing, Painting in water colors, Oriental and Oil Painting; all varieties of Manual Work, and the making of Artificial Flowers; Vocal Music—Guitar and Piano.

As the members of the Institution profess the Catholic religion, the exercises of religious worship are Catholic, but as members of every other denomination are received, it is only required that they assist with propriety at the public duties of religion.

Should a pupil be taken sick, immediate information will be forwarded to the parents, who are at liberty to withdraw her. Should they think proper to leave her in the Institution, she will receive every attention that affection and kindness can suggest. In such cases the parents will be responsible for the doctor's bill.

Visits are not permitted, except from parents, guardians, very near relations, or persons expressly introduced by parents or guardians; and those visits must be made on Thursday only. An exception to the latter part of this rule is made in favor of those who come from a distance.

An account of the disposition, capacity and progress of each pupil will be transmitted to the parents and guardians at the expiration of each session. At the close of the scholastic year, an examination will be held, followed by a distribution of premiums. No pupil will be received for a term less than a session, and no deduction will be made after a session is commenced, except in case of sickness or expulsion from school.

Letters written to the young ladies, or by them, are perused previously to their being delivered, or forwarded, and it is strictly required that all the letters addressed to them be post-paid.

Each pupil must be provided at her entrance with a suitable supply of clothing, (pockets to be inserted in the dresses,) together with six napkins, a knife and fork, a table and teaspoon, and at least five dollars for pocket money. Every article belonging to the pupil, must be marked with her name. Parents and guardians residing at a distance, are requested to make some arrangement with a friend or merchant in Terre Haute, to furnish the children with the articles they may need while they remain at school.

A charge of a dollar and a half per week, will be made for scholars remaining in the institution during vacation.

☞ Payments are to be made in advance for each session.

The first session commences on the 16th of September, and ends February 12th; the second begins the 13th of February, and terminates at the public distribution of July 15th.

Address, MOTHER MARY CECILIA BAILLY.

CAPITAL, $1,200,000.

We invite special attention to the unequalled facilities enjoyed by us for the rapid transportation of matter between New York and the West.

We have but two Expresses Daily from this place—but both are in charge of regular Messengers, and not the Baggage Masters on the road.

Remember and mark all your goods "by the Adams Express Co." and then you are sure they will be forwarded.

INTRODUCTION.

The third Directory of Terre Haute is herewith presented to her citizens. The Publishers desire to acknowledge the courtesy and liberality which they have experienced at the hands of the merchants and leading citizens, and they offer this result of their labors, in the full confidence that it will be found generally correct and satisfactory.

Particular care has been taken in the orthography of the proper names, as well as a general accuracy in regard to locations in the Alphabetical List. The Business Mirror is believed to be superior to all former editions.

The attention of advertisers is called to an important improvement, originated by the undersigned, and incorporated into all our works; we refer to the plan of referring from the names in the Alphabetical List and Business Mirror, to the page containing the card of the advertiser. This feature of our Directories has met with universal satisfaction wherever it has been introduced.

Of the neat typography and substantial binding of the present volume, we are justly proud. The work was executed by Messrs. H. H. Dodd & Co., printers, binders and stereotypers of this city.

To those gentlemen who have assisted us in procuring statistical and other information, we extend many thanks.

Respectfully,

CAMPBELL & RICHARDSON.

CITY OF TERRE HAUTE.

Terre Haute is situated on a high level plateau on the east bank of the Wabash river, in latitude 39° 28′ North, and longitude 10° 20′ West from Washington.

It is the capital of Vigo county, and the principal commercial town of western Indiana. The Wabash and Erie canal connects it with Lake Erie and the Ohio river, while the Terre Haute and Richmond Railroad, furnishes direct connection with all the railroads passing throught Indianapolis. The Terre Haute, Alton and St. Louis Railroad traversing the rich prairies of Illinois, reaches the Mississippi river both at Alton and St. Louis. The Evansville and Crawfordsville Railroad makes direct communication with the Ohio river; these with the great national road render Terre Haute a point of remarkable commercial accessibility.

It is noted for its large and steadily increasing trade, its commercial and manufacturing facilities, its schools and seminaries, the enterprise of its merchants, and the wealth, liberality and public spirit of its inhabitants.

As a place of residence, few cities can offer greater advantages. Its society has long been distinguished for its elegance and refinement. Churches of nearly all denominations well attended and prosperous, attest the moral tendency of its people.

The health of the city is excellent. The country around is rich in mineral deposits, coal, iron and fine building stone abound. The former within two miles and all in convenient distance with every advantage for transportation by railroad or canal. The population is estimated at from 14,000 to 15,000. The reader is referred to the appendix for valuable statistics and details relating to the public institutions of the city.

number, and will accommodate about three hundred pupils. The buildings are noble architectural structures, with all the modern appliances for comfort and elegance.

The institution is furnished with a good library, philosophical apparatus, telescope, chemical laboratory, mineral cabinet, &c.

Belles-Letters and Intellectual Philosophy—Mrs. L. Salisbury Covert.

Teacher in Preparatory Department—Miss Helen E. Twining.

Music Teachers—Miss P. Haines, Miss Carrie E. Sturr, Miss Mary E. Sneed, Miss Tuft.

Teacher of Drawing and Oil Painting—Miss Louisa Willard.

Book Keeper and Superintendent of College—Mr. H. Salisbury.

Matron—Mrs. White.

The Institution is divided into three departments—the Primary, the Academic, and the College.

The course of study prescribed is extensive and thorough, and well and wisely arranged, with reference to the increasing capacities and growing powers of the pupils, while the facilities afforded for the prosecution of collateral and ornamental branches—the Languages, Ancient and Modern Music, Painting and Drawing are ample and satisfactory. The Institution is well supplied with cabinet and apparatus for illustration of the Natural Sciences.

The various departments of the school are filled by competent and experienced Teachers. The Faculty of Instruction has been selected apparently without regard to expense, so as to secure the very best talent in the country, embracing some members of the profession well known in literary and scientific circles, as authors, lecturers, writers and amateurs of the fine Arts.

The expenses, two hundred and twenty-five dollars per annum, for board tuition in all the studies of the regular course, furnished rooms, fuel, light and washing, in view of the extraordinary advantages afforded, are belived to be reasonable.

The collateral and ornamental branches are subject to an extra charge, but they form no part of the regular course of study.

The Balealaureate Degree will be conferred by vote of the Trustees upon these who sustain an honorable examination in the regular studies of the course.

It is believed that the Institution affords rare facilities to those who aspire to the attainment of a complete Academic and Collegiate education, and it is doubtful whether any lower terms would be sufficient to justify the liberal expenditure which the character and position of the school imperatively demand.

R. W. WILSON, President Board of Trustees.

Lucius Ryer, Vice President.

SISTERS OF PROVIDENCE.

FEMALE INSTITUTE OF

St. Mary's of the Woods,

NEAR TERRE HAUTE,

VIGO COUNTY, INDIANA,

St. Mary's Institute is about four miles from Terre Haute, located in a retired, healthy, and pleasant situation. The building is spacious, erected in a handsome style, and well adapted for the purpose of an extensive Boarding School for young ladies. The grounds being ample and retired, present every inducement for physical exercise, without exposure to passers by; and the pupils may engage in the various sports which taste and health require, without danger of intrusion from abroad, or of becoming themselves annoyers to others.

The course of instruction embraces Orthography, Reading, Writing, Grammer, Arithmetic, Geograpy and History, together with all the higher braneches, which constitute a thorough English education; also, French, German, and Latin; Drawing, Painting in water colors, Oriental and Oil Painting; all varieties of Manual Work, and the making of Artificial Flowers; Vocal Musie—Guitar and Piano.

As the members of the Institution profess the Catholie religion, the exercises of religious worship are Catholic, but as members of every other denomination are received, it is only required that they assist with propriety at the publie duties of religion.

Should a pupil be taken sick, immediate information will be forwarded to the parents, who are at liberty to withdraw her. Should they think proper to leave her in the Institution, she will receive every attention that affection and kindness can suggest. In such cases the parents will be responsiblo for the doctor's bill.

Visits are not permitted, except from parents, guardians, very near relations, or persons expressly introduced by parents or guardians; and thoso visits must be maclo on Thursday only. An exception to the latter part of this rulo is maclo in favor of thoso who como from a distanco.

An account of the disposition, capacity, and progress of each pupil will be transmitted to the parents and guardians at the expiration of each session. At the close of the scholastic year, an examination will be held, followed by a distribution of premiums. No pupil will be received for a term less than a session, and no deduction will be made after a session is commenced, except in case of sickness or expulsion from school.

Letters written to the young ladies, or by them, are perused previously to their being delivered, or forwarded, and it is strictly required that all the letters addressed to them be post-paid.

Each pupil must be provided at her entrance with a suitable supply of clothing, (pockets to be inserted in the dresses,) together with six napkins, a knife and fork, a table and teaspoon, and at least five dollars for pocket-money. Every article belonging to the pupil must be marked with her name. Parents and guardians residing at a distance, are requested to make some arrangement with a friend or merchant in Terre Haute, to furnish the children with the articles they may need while they remain at school.

A charge of a dollar and a half per week will be made for scholars remaining in the Institution during vacation.

Payments are to be made in advance for each session.

Classes open the first Monday in September.

Terms of Admission.

TUITION IN ALL THE ENGLISH BRANCHES.—Board, Bedding and Washing, Plain Sewing and Ornamental Needle-work, Test-books and Stationery, Stamps, Remedies for daily ailing, use of work boxes, &c., Shoes mended, Ordinary needle-work expenses, and many little articles furnished as Pins, Blacking, Shoe strings, &c., per session, $65 00.

ADVERTISEMENT.

THE universally expressed desire of the citizens of Terre Haute, for a correct and complete Directory, induced the Publishers of the present volume to undertake a work of so much labor. The Directories that have been issued heretofore have been compiled by persons who were non-residents of the City, and were gotten up solely for the money they would bring the adventurers, they caring nothing whether the work was correct or not. The Publishers of this volume employed careful and energetic canvassers, who have used great diligence in procuring the names of our citizens, and we trust there are few if any errors in the orthography of the names. Whatever errors may be found, should be considered as unavoidable.

The interesting sketch of Vigo County we copy from McEvoy's Directory for 1858, written by our gallant fellow-citizen, Gen. Charles Cruft.

For the biography of the celebrated Col. Vigo, and for the valuable statistics in the sketch of the City, referring to the Pork Packing business, we are indebted to Samuel S. Early, Esq.

The sketch of the City was written by our esteemed fellow-citizen, Jacob Hager, Esq., and will be found full of interesting and valuable information, and handsomely prepared.

The article on the subject of the Public Schools was furnished by J. M. Olcott, Esq., the able and efficient Superintendent, who has been in charge of the same for some months past.

To our Commission Grain Merchants and City Millers we are under obligations for the privilege of access to their books, from which we have gleaned the statistics of grain bought in the city.

To James Farrington, Esq., United States Assessor, we tender our thanks for the statistics relating to the Internal Revenues of this County and District. They make an important page in our Book.

The paper on which our Book is printed is from the house of Messrs. Nixon, Chatfield & Woods, and the handsome cuts, types &c., from the "Franklin Typo Foundry," both of Cincinnati, O.

The work, printing and binding, was all done in our own Establishment, and we ask for it all the praise it deserves, believing that in every respect, our Book is far superior to any ever issued for this City.

The Publishers intend to keep up the issue of their Directory regularly, believing it necessary for the business interests of the City.

With their heartfelt thanks to a kind and generous Public for the very liberal patronage extended in the line of Advertisements, and for aid in other ways, the Publishers present their Book, hoping they have succeeded in satisfying all with their attempt to produce a work creditable not only to their patrons, but themselves.

R. H. SIMPSON & CO., Publishers.

VIGO COUNTY.

THE county of Vigo is situated in the extreme western tier of counties of the State of Indiana, about midway of the State. It contains four hundred square miles, and was organized in 1818. The County was named in honor of Colonel Francis Vigo—then a resident of Vincennes—known, in the history of the times, as the "Spanish merchant," who had been conspicuous for many patriotic acts toward the Government in the early wars of the west, and particularly for the noble part he had borne in the "Illinois campaign" of Col. George Rogers Clark. The surface of the County is generally level, or gently undulating, with an agreeable alternation of prairie and woodland. The soil is uniformly good. It is well watered—the Wabash River flowing nearly through the County from north to south—while many tributary creeks pass into it from all parts of the County. The territory now comprising Vigo, was originally part of Sullivan County. The new County was organized by an act of the Legislature, then sitting at Corydon, January, 21st, 1818. The following is the act, viz:

AN ACT FOR THE FORMATION OF A NEW COUNTY OFF OF THE COUNTY OF SULLIVAN.

APPROVED JANUARY 21st, 1818.

SEC. 1st. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, That from the fifteenth day of February next, all that part of the County of Sullivan, included in the following bounds, shall form and constitute a new County, that is to say: Beginning at a point on the Wabash River, where the section line between fractions fourteen and twenty-three, in range eleven west, township ten north strikes the same; thence east with said line to where it intersects the range line dividing ranges six and seven west, township ten north; thence north with said range line to the Indian boundary; thence north with said boundary to the division line between the State of Indiana and the Illinois Territory; thence south with said line to where it strikes the Wabash river; thence down said river to the place of beginning.

SEC. 2nd. The said new county shall form and after the fifteenth day of February next be known and designated by the name and style of Vigo County, and it shall enjoy all the rights, privileges and jurisdictions which to a separate county do or may properly appertain and belong.

SEC. 3rd. That Elihu Stout of Knox county, John Allen of Daviess county, Charles Scott of Sullivan county, James D. Jones of Gibson county and Marstin G. Clark of Washington county, be and they are hereby appointed Commissioners to designate the place for the seat of justice of Vigo county, agreeably to an act entitled "An act for fixing the seats of justice in all new counties hereafter to be laid off." The Commissioners above named, shall convene at the house of Trueman Blackman in the neighborhood of Fort Harrison, on the third Monday in March next, and then proceed to discharge the duties assigned them by law.

SEC. 4th. The Board of Commissioners, of said new county of Vigo, shall, within twelve months after the permanent seat of justice shall have been established, proceed to erect the necessary public buildings thereon.

SEC. 5th. Until suitable accomodations can be had in the opinion of the Circuit Court, at the seat of justice of said new county, all the courts of justice of the same, shall meet at the house of Trueman Blackman, near Fort Harrison, from whence they may adjourn, it they think proper, to any other suitable place near the centre of said new county, and so soon as the public buildings are, in the opinion of the circuit court, in a sufficient state of forwardness for their accommodation, the courts shall adjourn to the county seat; and after that time the Circuit Court and all other courts necessary to be holden at the seat of justice of the county aforesaid, shall be held at the county seat established for said county.

Sec. 6th. Whenever the seat of justice of the said new county shall have been established, the person or persons authorized by law to lay off the lots and sell the same shall reserve ten per centum on the nett proceeds of the whole sale of said lots, for the use of a county library in said new county, which sum or sums of money so received, shall be paid over to such person or persons as may be authorized to receive the same, in such manner and in such instalments as shall be authorized by law.

Sec. 7th. Be it further enacted, That the said County of Vigo, which was formerly a part of Sullivan, shall form a part of the respective counties of Knox, Daviess and Sullivan, for the purpose of electing Senators and Representatives to the General Assembly, until otherwise directed by law, in the same manner as if this act had not passed.

Sec. 8th. This act to take effect and be in force from and after its publication.

Under this act the Commissionors appointed to establish the county seat, selected the town of Terre Haute, on 21st March, 1818.

The following persons were chosen as the first officers of the county during the same month, viz:

Curtis Gilbert, Clerk and Recordor.
Truoman Blackman, Sheriff.
Alexander Barnes, Coroner.
Moses Hoggatt, James Barnes, } Associate Judges.
John Hamilton, Isaac Lambert, Ezra Jones, } County Commissionors.

The first session of the Circuit Court held in the county commenced on 27th April, 1818, and was conducted by the Associate Judges, at the house of Trueman Blackman. The county was then attached to the first judicial circuit. The records show the following persons to be the first Attorney's admitted to practice in the county, viz: Geo. R. C. Sullivan, Samuel Whitelsy, Jonathan Doty and Wm. P. Bennett. On the 27th July following the regular term of Court was held at the house of Richard Redford in Terre Haute, by Hon. Thomas H. Blake, President Judge.

The population of Vigo County, at the various dates of the general census, were as follows, viz:

1830,..... 5,737,
1840,.....12,076,
1850,..... .....15,289.

The present population is rated, by careful estimate, at 24,000. Since the census of 1850 there has been, undoubtedly, an increase of over fifty per cent. in the population of the county, and over one hundred in wealth and resources. The various public improvements have made it quite accessible from all quarters, and done much to develop its resources within the few years past. There are several thrifty villages in different parts of the county; the principal of which are Prairieton, Lockport, Middletown, and Centreville, in the southern,—and St. Mary's and Sandford, in the western part.

COL. FRANCIS VIGO.

FRANCIS VIGO, after whom Vigo County was named, was born at Mondovi, in the Kingdom of Sardinia, in the year of grace, 1747. Being of obscure parentage and humble fortune he was compelled, at an early age, to seek foreign service to gain a subsistence, and accordingly enlisted in a Spanish regiment under orders for Havana, for which post he sailed almost immediately after his enrollment. A battalion of the regiment, which he accompanied, was transferred to New Orleans, then a Spanish post, and the principal military station and depot of Spain, for her possessions in Louisiana. Here, after a brief period of service, Vigo obtained a discharge from the army, and, supplying himself with such a stock of the requisite merchandise as his limited means would allow, began life as a trader among the Indian tribes on the banks of the Mississippi river and its tributaries. His successes in this business were such that in a few years he was enabled to retire from the laborious life of a traveling merchant; he then settled at St. Louis, then also under Spanish dominion, where for several years he resided, enjoying the confidence and regard of the Spanish Governor of the Province, with whom he lived on terms of closest intimacy, and commanding the universal respect of his fellow-citizens by the manly and chivalric attributes of his character. He was still a citizen of St. Louis when Col. George Rogers Clarke, acting under a commission from the celebrated Patrick Henry, Governor of Virginia, began his famous campaign against the old French settlements in the Wabash Valley, which settlements had been surrendered to Great Britain by France, under the treaty of Paris, in February, 1863. This campaign was brilliantly opened by the capture of Kaskaskia on the evening of the 4th of July, 1778. A Spanish subject by residence and allegiance, Vigo was under no obligation to espouse either side of the quarrel between England and her American colonies; but, actuated by an inherent desire to assist the weak against the strong, and by an ardent wish to see the struggling colonies succeed in throwing off the British yoke, when he heard of Clarke's arrival and success at Kaskaskia, he hastened to join him, and proffered him his means, services and influence to aid in the prosecution of his plans. His short career as a Spanish soldier had given him valuable experience in the drill and discipline of camps; his wealth, which he freely placed at Clarke's disposal, was a better medium for the purchase of supplies and the payment of troops than the ragged continental Virginia currency, which alone constituted the contents of Clarke's military chest; and his knowledge of the habits and temper of the French residents in the region of the expedition was such as to render him peculiarly fitted to treat with them in behalf of the Americans, and to enlist their sympathies in favor of the colonial cause; so that Clarke regarded his accession to his forces as an all-important aid in his designs, and most gladly accepted his generous offers.

An opportunity to avail himself of the services and influence of Vigo was at once afforded to Clarke. Post Vincennes, from which the British garrison had retired on Clarke's advance into Illinois, and of which he had taken possession, appointing Captain Leonard Helm, of the Kentucky militia, Commandant, had been re-occupied by British troops, with Indian allies, under Gov. Hamilton, of Detroit. This post, which from its position afforded great facilities for reinforcements to reach the enemy, was the key to the military situation in the Valley of the Wabash, and it became a matter of imperious necessity that Clarke should repossess it, and he assigned to Vigo the duty of making a journey to Vincennes to ascertain its exact condition, and the probabilities of success in an expedition for its re-capture. Vigo did not hesitate in undertaking the task, but at once set out upon his journey, accompanied by only a single servant. He made his way without interruption, except from the difficulties of finding his path through almost untravelled wildernesses, to the Embarras river, at a point west of Vincennes, and but a short distance from the Post, where he was captured by a party of the Indian allies of Gov. Hamilton, who robbed him of some merchandise he carried to give him the semblance of an itinerant trader, and then bore him a prisoner to Vincennes. Hamilton suspected him to be a spy of Clarke's, but was compelled, from Vigo's own account of himself, which declared that he was a Spanish subject and a non-combatant, to be cautious in his treatment of him; he therefore admitted him to parole on condition that he should daily report himself at the fort. This condition of his parole furnished Vigo with all the opportunities that he could desire of familiarizing himself with the condition of the fort and all its defences, and with all matters connected with the garrison, which were essential to the report he desired to make to Col. Clarke on his return to Kaskaskia. His residence among the old French habitans of Vincennes permitted him also to enlist their feelings in behalf of the American cause, and to pave the way for a prompt recognition by them of Col. Clarke as a friend when the time came to espouse his cause. Gov. Hamilton at length becoming annoyed by his presence determined to release him, and proposed to do so on condition that Vigo should sign an agreement not to do any act during the war prejudical to British interests. This, Vigo promptly and positively declined to do. Hamilton then modified his demand, only exacting that Vigo should agree to do nothing injurious to the British cause on his way back to St. Louis. Vigo consented to this arrangement, and kept it to the letter. He left Vincennes in a pirogue, and made the long journey down the Wabash and the Ohio rivers, and up the Mississippi to St. Louis, in order to fulfill his bond; but he had no sooner landed at St. Louis than he re-embarked in his pirogue and hastened with all speed to rejoin Clarke at Kaskaskia. Clarke, who had heard of his capture, but not of his subsequent enlargement, had suffered great uneasiness, both on Vigo's account and from the deplorable uncertainty which the lack of intelligence as to the state of affairs at Vincennes, and the intentions of the British Commandant concerning himself, created; and it may be well imagined that he received Vigo with an ardent welcome. When Vigo reported to him the condition of the post, Clarke determined upon undertaking its capture, and immediately issued the requisite orders. His expedition was completely successful, Vincennes surrendering to his victorious arms on the 25th of February, 1779; its conquest being followed by the almost immediate acquisition to the Colonies of the whole vast Territory of the North-West. Vigo bore a most honorable part in the campaign, sharing freely in its dangers, and contributing mainly to its success by judicious counsel and by a generous supply of money, which he furnished to the amount of twenty thousand dollars for the purchase of supplies and the payment of troops, by guaranteeing the worthless currency with which Clarke made his purchases, and redeeming it, dollar for dollar, in specie.

After the peace was declared which gave to the United States their position as a free and independent nation, Vigo became a citizen of Vincennes, and spent the remainder of his days within view of the scene of the contest his wisdom and liberality had so largely assisted in rendering successful to the arms of our country. His declining years were spent in comparative want, the Government persistently neglecting to reimburse him for the outlay he had made to promote the national cause—which, indeed, involved the whole of his fortune—and shamefully ignoring the value of his services in procuring the splendid domain acquired by the successes of Clarke's campaign. His petitions to Congress upon the subject were all deferred, from session to session, until any attention ceased to be paid to them, and, at last, worn out by fruitless efforts to obtain redress, and heart-broken by the ingratitude which denied him even his own, the old veteran died on the 24th of March, 1835. He was buried with the honors of war on the 25th, the rattle of a few musket-shots fired over his remains by a volunteer company of his young fellow-citizens being the only public tribute paid to his remains.

He was very proud of the compliment paid him when this county was called by his name, and, in his last illness, directed that, if Congress allowed his claims, a portion of the money should be paid into her treasury, as a bequest from him. The citizens of Vigo County could more cheerfully bear the loss they have sustained by the neglect of Congress to repay his expenditures could they feel that it was not the consequence of flagrant injustice and ingratitude.

CITY OF TERRE HAUTE.

The city of Terre Haute is situated upon a high and level plateau, on the East bank of the Wabash river, in Vigo County, Indiana. Its position on the map of our country is 39 degrees, 28 minutes north latitude, and 10 degrees, 20 minutes longitude west from Washington.

The site is remarkably level and beautiful, and in this respect is not surpassed by any place in the western country. The streets are rectangular and with the cardinal points of the compass, wide, spacious, clean, and generally ornamented with trees, and lighted with gas. The city lies upon the margin of "Fort Harrison Prairie," and from this peculiarity of location, many years since received the soubriquet of the "Prairie City," by which it is known far and wide.

The name Terre Haute is composed of two French words, signifying high land, and was doubtless suggested by the old French traders of the valley. Nor is it inappropriate, the level of the town being some fifty feet above the low water flow of the river.

The town of Terre Haute was laid out by a company of individuals in 1816. This company was constituted by articles of agreement bearing date September 19th of that year. It consisted of Cuthbert Bullitt and Thomas Bullitt of Louisville, Abraham Markle of Fort Harrison, Hyacinthe Lasalle of Vincennes, and Jonathan Lindley of Orange county, Indiana.

It was originally styled the "Terre Haute Company," and from them are derived all the original titles to the lots of the place. This company held patents from the United States for their lands, described in their articles as "thirteen tracts of land on the River Wabash, in the vicinity of Fort Harrison." The interests of the proprietors represented twelve shares; of these Lindley had four, Markle three, Lasalle three, and C. and T. Bullitt two. It is said that the site first chosen for the town was the spot some three miles south of the present location, still known as Old Terre Haute. This, however, was abandoned for the more pleasing one now occupied.

During the first operations of the "Terre Haute Company," Joseph Kitchell, of Palestine, Illinois, acted as their agent by virtue of a power of attorney, dated 16th September, 1816. He was afterwards superceded by John Owens, of Salem, Indiana, whose appointment bears date of October 16, 1817. These agents attended to the sales and managed the business of the company. The boundaries of the town, as originally laid out, included thirty-five blocks of in-lots, extending along the river from the north side of Swan street to the south side of Eagle street, and eastward from the river to the west side of Fifth street, comprising the present city lots from number one to two hundred and eighty. The first sales of lots were made in the fall of 1816. During this fall and the ensuing spring, quite a number of families moved to Fort Harrison; the village, however, increased but little during the year 1817, there being only a few cabins erected on the town plat.

In January, 1818, Vigo county was organized, and in the March following Terre Haute was selected as the county seat. This was the first upward impulse it received. To show how important the company considered its selection as the county seat may be inferred from the amount of lots and cash they paid the commissioners therefor. In consideration of the location the company conveyed eighty lots and the public square of eight lots to the County Commissioners and paid into the Treasury in cash, and mortgage bonds, four thousand dollars.

The years 1819, 1820, and 1821 were noted throughout the Wabash Valley for the general sickness which prevailed. A kind of epidemic fever seemed to sweep over the whole country, and scarcely a family was exempt from its ravages. These years are well remembered by the few of the old inhabitants of Terre Haute who yet remain. The town, in common with others throughout the valley, suffered much; this, for some time, retarded its prosperity and that of the surrounding country; it however continued to increase slowly and with a good class of population. During the few years succeeding 1820, many of those who have since been among its most enterprising and prominent citizens, arrived. The largest number of the early settlers were from the New England States, but a considerable proportion were also from the Middle and Southern States. They were generally men of intelligence, taste and energy, and contributed largely, thus early, to form for the place the high social and business character it has since maintained.

From 1820 to 1850 the place has continued with a steady but slow increase; since 1850 it has more than trebled in population and importance, and the better class of its buildings have been erected. The original 35 blocks of in lots now comprise but a small portion of the site of the city, some of the most valuable property being located in what were originally out lots, and numerous additions east, north and west, having been made as the necessities of population required. In 1835 the entire eastern limit of business and private buildings, with but few exceptions, only reached to Fourth Street, and where the Terre Haute House now stands was a corn field.

The present population of Terre Haute is between eleven and twelve thousand, and is increasing. There has been however no accurate census taken for some years past. The population shown by the general census in 1850, was 4051; in 1860, in consequence of the enumeration having been divided between two deputy Marshals, whose reports were never condensed, the census returns do not show the number, but report states it at somewhere near 9,000. In point of intelligence, energy and business character, its citizens will compare favorably with any others of the State. Nearly all the property of the city is owned by actual residents; and it is a significant mark of the thrift of the citizens, that almost every householder is also a freeholder and owns a residence.

Its healthfulness is not surpassed by any place of its size, as is shown by its mortuary statistics, published monthly by the municipal authorities. The soil on which the city stands is a rich, porous loam, insuring speedy drainage, and overlies a basin of fine limestone water, furnishing at all points an unfailing supply to its wells. The public buildings, business houses and dwellings are beautiful, and many of them equal to those of any city.

There is a great degree of taste and elegance displayed in the grounds, shrubbery and lawns surrounding the private dwellings. In this respect perhaps Terre Haute has not an equal in the State. In the early settlement of the place great attention was paid to the planting of shade trees on the margins of the streets and throughout the public grounds. The black locust of the country was universally chosen. Some years since this variety of tree was wholly destroyed by the "borer" insect, and the city robbed of some of its beauty. Formerly, in the season when the locusts were in bloom and the air of the spring was laden with the perfume of their flowers, the city seemed like the garden of an enchanter. The loss of the locusts is being speedily regained by the planting of the maple and other varieties of native forest trees, which, in a few years, will surpass in their loveliness the pioneer locusts.

It is one of the most accessible points in the State. The Wabash river is navigable a portion of the year for steamers of the largest class. During its navigation steamers load from any of the Ohio or Mississippi ports direct for this place. It is connected with Lake Erie and the Ohio river by the Wabash and Erie Canal, which passes through the entire Wabash Valley, and furnishes a convenient mode of transportation for all heavy commodities; there is, also, a direct communication with the Ohio river, southward by the Evansville and Crawfordsville Railroad. The Terre Haute and Richmond Railroad furnishes a direct connection with all the roads centering at Indianapolis. The Terre Haute, Alton and St. Louis Railroad, passing through the fertile prairies of Illinois, gives a direct connection with the Mississippi at both Alton and St. Louis, and also connects daily with all the main lines of Railroad in the prairie State. The extension of the Evansville and Crawfordsville Railroad to Rockville has opened for Terre Haute the trade of the rich and fertile county of Parke, and its further extension, now contemplated, to Attica, will make a direct communication, by way of the Wabash Valley Railroad to Lake Erie, at Toledo.

The old "National Road" passes through the city.—The Bridge and other improvements of the "Draw Bridge Company" render it easily accessible from the West, and the new bridge now being erected at the foot of Wabash Street by the same company, will in a few years supercede the old temporary structure, and furnish a permanent and certain passage for the western trade. Good wagon roads extend from the city to all surrounding parts of the country, and its environs furnish as charming drives as may be found in the western country.

Terre Haute has always been noted for the amount of its mercantile trade. From its foundation to the present time it has furnished a very large market for merchandize of every kind, and has been conspicuous for the number, probity, wealth and energy of its merchants as a class. There are now in the city over a hundred large retail stores, displaying every variety of stocks, with an honorable and manly competition for the trade. There are also several large wholesale grocery and liquor stores, seven large drug stores, twenty clothing stores, seven boot and shoe stores, three book stores, five large hardware stores; three leather stores, and an innumerable variety of provision, confectionary and other smaller establishments.

The credit of its merchants at home and abroad has always been good and well sustained. It is worthy of note that there has been fewer failures among its merchants than that of any western city of its size. There is a large accumulation of actual capital in the hands of its merchants, which is continually increasing. The most wealthy citizens of the place were numbered among its early merchants The amount of merchandize of all kinds retailed in the city has doubtless reached, for five years past, an annual average of three millions of dollars.

The Banks of the city are three in number, viz: The Branch of the Bank of the State; the Prairie City Bank, and the First National Bank of Terre Haute, formerly the "Southern Bank." These banks have been skillfully managed, and have always sustained themselves under every pressure. The Prairie City Bank however is closing its business. In addition to these there are two private banking houses, one of which does as large an aggregate of business as any of the incorporated banks.

The heaviest trade of Terre Haute, so far as the capital invested is concerned, has been in the article of pork. The pioneer establishment in this branch of business, both in this city and in the valley of the Wabash, was erected in the year 1824, by B. I. Gilman, of Cincinnati, on the site now occupied by the pork house of Wm. J. Rioman & Co. Mr. Gilman disposed of his house to Joseph Miller, almost immediately, who continued the business for many years. Miller sold out to J. L. Humaston & P. H. Griswold, who, after a time, were succeeded by L. Ryce & James Ross, who, in their turn, were succeeded by Wm. J. Rioman & Co. The next establishment was that erected by John F. and William S. Cruft, on the river bank, immediately above the premises of Paddock & Co., which is now more familiarly known to our citizens as Holmes' Old Foundry. They were succeeded in this house by John Burson, who had been packing in a cheap wooden structure which he had erected on the south side of Wabash street, below First. Alexander McCune packed at Burson's old house for a time. Daniel Johnson and Ralph Wilson did business for some time in a frame house they built on the north side of Wabash street, on the lot now occupied by J. M. Davis' wagon yard. Hogs were packed also on the premises now occupied by Dr. Pence's residence. John D. Early, after packing for some years with Joseph Miller, opened a house of his own in the cooper-shop built by George Hamer, on the south side of Mulberry street, opposite to the present large brick residence of Ephraim Wolfe, Esq. This house continued to be used as a pork house for some years, when it was converted into a theatre, where our old citizens were wont to be entertained by the performances of old Aleck Drake and his wife. Sam Lathrop, Sam Burgess and others who wore the buskin, professionally, and also by the histrionic efforts of "native talent." The premises are now occupied by families.

Chauncey B. Miller erected a pork house in the year 1841, on the lot on the corner of Canal and Water streets, where he did a commission packing business until 1846, when Jacob D. Early, who had been packing since 1836 with Joseph Miller, rented his establishment. Mr. Early purchased the premises in 1848, and built his large pork house the same year.

James Johnson built a packing house on an alley between First street and the river, in 1843, and did a large business for some years.

James Farrington, Israel Williams and John Boudinot, under the firm name of John Boudinot & Co., built the first pork house on the ground now occupied by the magnificent establishment of the Messrs. Linn & Reed, in 1842. They were succeeded by H. D. Williams & Co., who erected the present establishment in 1848.

The two remaining fine pork houses of Messrs. Paddock

& Co., and Wm. B. Warren, were erected, the former by Levi G. Warren and John Boudinot in 1849. and the latter by George R. Wilson and Wm. B. Warren in 1850. Benjamin and Samuel McKeen have packed for some years at the former house, in which they are interested. John Duncan, who is well known to the trade on the Wabash as a packer of English meats, commenced the business here in 1856, with H. D. Williams & Co. For the last three years he has occupied a part of the establishment of Jacob D. Early & Son.

The pork houses of the present day are those of the Messrs. Jacob D. Early & Son, Linn & Reed, William B. Warren, S. Paddock & Co., and Wm. J. Rieman & Co., all of which bear a deservedly high reputation for the character of the provisions handled by them.

The annual numbers of hogs packed in the city during the last sixteen years have been as follows:

Years,	No. of Hogs.	Years,	No. of Hogs,
1848,	54,750	1856,	49,150
1849,	64,066	1857,	49,151
1850,	70,548	1858,	44,297
1851,	66,851	1859,	41,757
1852,	108,791	1860,	43,138
1853,	78,809	1861,	62,768
1854,	69,976	1862,	80,593
1855,	48,562	1863,	49,674

The average number is over 61,000 head per annum. The average amount of money annually invested in the pork trade, including salt, cooperage, boxing, labor, &c., will reach to $800,000. In the article of beef, also; there has been quite a large trade. In addition to this trade in pork and beef, Terre Haute has always furnished a large market for grain. The shipments of wheat and corn and other grain from this point for the ten years past has been very large, reaching, perhaps, an average of $500,000.

The following statistics exhibit the aggregate amounts of grain handled by our Produce Dealers and Millers during the last three years:

Wheat—bushels	purchased		800,000
Corn	"	"	597,000
Rye	"	"	48,000
Oats	"	"	45,000
Flaxseed	"	"	33,000
Flour—barrels ground			124,000
Whiskey—gallons distilled			767,520

The trade in lumber, brick and building materials is now and has been very large for a few years past. Very heavy stocks of lumber are kept at the various lumber yards, and large quantities annually shipped from this point to the prairies of Illinois. The finest qualities of brick are also manufactured at the brick yards of this city, in quantities to admit of exportation to some extent.

Terre Haute offers fine inducements for all kinds of manufacturing business; fuel and labor are cheap, and abundant; the eastern portion of Illinois and southern part of Indiana furnish a good market to manufacturers. But little, however, has been done, as yet, in this line. The principal manufactories of the place at present are two large foundries and machine shops, four flouring mills, one extensive steam saw mill, two woolen factories, one plow manufactory, six brick yards, two planing mills, one extensive distillery, three breweries, two large stave and barrel factories, two furniture manufactories, two soap and candle factories, blank book manufactory, three carriage manufactories, gas works, and the extensive machine shops connected with the various railroads. That this place is well adapted to manufactures does not admit of doubt. It is surrounded by extensive and fine coal fields, the nearest within two miles. Good quarries of building stone lie near. Iron ores of fine quality are also in convenient proximity, and with every facility for transportation by canal, river and railroad.

A shaft sunk in the nearest coal field west of the river has recently discovered iron ore of good quality.

By the returns made to the office of the United States' Assessor the aggregate sum paid into the United States' treasury, as Revenue, by the city of Terre Haute, for the Assessment year last passed, is $89,835 90, distributed as follows:

Annual Assessment, September, 1862			$8,252.00

These articles were, until late years, exported exclusively by river; the more bulky in flatboats, and others by steamers. Since the completion of the canal and railways, however, the business of the river has ceased to be of so much importance.

There are published in the city two daily and weekly newspapers, the Wabash Express and Union Democrat; also, one weekly newspaper, the Terre Haute Journal. They all have a good circulation and patronage. The Wabash Courier, which had been published for twenty-six years continuously, and was at the head of the journals of the Wabash valley for many years, was some years since merged in the "Express."

There are five large hotels in the city: the Terre Haute House; (formerly the "Prairie" House); Buntin's

Hotel; Clark House, Stewart House, and the National; the latter, however, having been closed for some years. The first named is perhaps the largest and most commodious hotel in the State. They are all well kept; and possess enterprising and hospitable landlords, who vie with each other in polite attentions to their guests, and leave upon the memory of the passing sojourner a pleasant impression of the place.

The city now enjoys good facilities for the extinguishment of fires. There are three well organized and efficient volunteer companies of firemen, viz.: the Niagara, No. 1; Vigo, No. 2; and Northern Liberty, No. 3. These companies are now well provided with all the necessary apparatus, and stimulated by an honorable rivalry, are accomplishing a great deal for the security of the city from conflagrations. Connected with the fire department there are also several hose and hook and ladder companies. The supply of water from river, canal, and the large number of private wells and cisterns, is fair; but the municipal authorities are constantly adding to this by the construction of public cisterns at all important points. Constructed as the city is, however, with no portion of it, except the main business streets, compactly built, the danger of any very extensive conflagration is very remote.

There are two regular markets in the city, held daily, under the municipal regulations. These are abundantly supplied with all the products of the country. Perhaps there is no point in the western country where finer meats and vegetables are offered in markets and shops; the choicest game and fish of the season, too, may always be had. In addition to these, with the facilities offered by the various railways, almost every table luxury of the seaboard is constantly offered for sale in our city markets.

The educational facilities of Terre Haute are good, and annually increasing. There are now owned by the city large and commodious brick buildings devoted to public schools. Three of these buildings are, perhaps, the largest and most convenient in the State devoted to similar purposes. In addition to these there are many private schools, which are commanding a good patronage.—Among the latter now in operation may be noted St. Vincent's Academy for girls, under the control of the Sisters of Providence of St. Mary's. The new female college, situated on Sixth street, in the lower part of the city, has been in operation nearly six years. The corner stone of this institution was laid on the 4th of July, 1857. It was founded by John Covert, Esq., and is without exception the most elegant and complete female college in the west.

The female school, under the charge of the "Sisters of Providence" at St. Mary's, only four miles west of Terre Haute, and immediately on the St. Louis Railroad, may also be reckoned as one of the institutions of the city. It has been established for 20 years, and is well known throughout the western States.

Nearly every religious creed is represented in Terre Haute. Some of its churches are very spacious and beautiful. There are among them, two Presbyterian, four Methodist, two Baptist, one Episcopalian, one Roman Catholic, one German Lutheran, one Evangelical Lutheran, one Universalist, one Congregational, and a Jewish Synagogue. The various churches are all well attended and prosperous.

In every point of view and to every class Terre Haute offers peculiar advantages as a place of residence. Its location is not surpassed in beauty or healthfulness. Its business is large, population active, intelligent and liberal. There is, in proportion to the size of the city, a larger amount of actual capital than is usual in the west; among the citizens are quite a number distinguished for their large wealth. There is in the city as polite and refined society as may be found in the west. In the various professions there is a large degree of talent, and some of the professional men of the city occupy the foremost ranks of their calling in the State.

The place has always been distinguished for its freedom from excitements, mobs, and violence of all kinds. Only during the troubled times of the past three years, has the city ever been disturbed by any scene of disorder, and then only during a temporary excitement and by individuals not citizens of the place. Political and other matters of difference, even now, have rarely been suffered to create either public disturbance or social estrangement. In the general tone, bearing, and manners of the people, Terre Haute has no superior and but few equals in any portion of the country.

The future prospects of the city are flattering. With a continuance of the steady increase of the few year past, it will soon become one of the most important points of the State. If an impulse be given to its manufacturing interests by the attraction of capital from abroad, and the devotion to that purpose of a large portion of its home capital, it must become eventually a large inland city.—That this result will be attained, when this unnatural war is ended, there can be no doubt. Nature has done every thing desirable in the way of location, and the future of Terre Haute, in the hands of its capitalists and business men, energetic and free-sighted as they are, cannot be otherwise than prosperous.

ORDINANCE.

AN ORDINANCE DEFINING THE WARDS.

READ!

Every person interested in financial matters ought to understand, and properly appreciate, the best use of that article in business, known as money. It is the power that keeps the great machinery of trade in motion, the bearings of which should be equally regulated, none too "easy" and none too "tight," else the whole go to wreck. Now the question arises as to whether New York, Boston, and other eastern cities, have not controlled the finances of the country up to the present time? If not, why is it that money goes begging for 5 and 6 per cent. interest there, while in Indiana and other western States, it is difficult to be obtained at three times these rates? Money is "easy" there, and "tight" here, for the reason that we are constantly sending it there for articles of manufacture that can be made equally as good, and cheaper in the west. Indiana has expended nearly $1,000,000.00 annually, for the past six years, for Pianos alone. This amount could have been kept at home and in circulation, by patronizing home manufacturers. Robinson & Co. have been engaged in manufacturing Pianos six years in Indianapolis, and their instruments have acquired a reputation for excellence of tone, strength and durability, that places them in the front rank, having been awarded the highest premiums at the State fairs of 1865, 1866, 1867, over leading eastern manufactures. Irving Bros., having made arrangements with these manufacturers, do now control the sale of all instruments manufactured by them and are prepared to sell Pianos from $75 to $100 less than any other dealers in this city or State, of eastern manufacture. Parties will find it greatly to their advantage to examine stock and prices at their sale-rooms before purchasing, or address for circular, Irving Bros., Indianapolis, Indiana. ☞ Every Piano is fully warranted for the term of five years, and kept in order one year free of charge.

Second hand instruments taken in exchange for new, and a liberal discount made to schools, teachers and clergymen.

INTRODUCTORY.

OUR MOTTO: "Justice to all and Injustice to none."

In presenting this, our first Directory of this city, to the public, we are frank to say our expectations have been reached in the liberal patronage we have received from the substantial, energetic and enterprising business men of Terre Haute, as this alone has enabled us to realize a return of the liberal investments we have made in order to produce a work worthy the excellent reputation of the Prairie City; and none are more willing to enhance it than we—for in this city we see the finest illustration of the stern, progressive will of the western man, who is compelled to hew out the pathway his own feet are destined to tread successfully in the various avocations and business pursuits of life. And we are proud to see the record this city bears, as indicated below. The city of Terre Haute derived its name from the nature of its location, being situated upon elevated ground, on the margin of the beautiful Fort Harrison Prairie, and for many years has been designated as the Prairie City of the west, by which it is known far and wide. The name Terre Haute is derived from two French words, (terre meaning ground and haute meaning high); nor is it inappropriate, the level of the town being near sixty feet above the low-water flow of the Wabash River, which runs along its border and furnishes a bountiful supply of water power.

The town, from its first organization in 1816 up to 1850, continued to increase but slowly in population, having at that time four thousand souls; in 1860 it had increased to about nine thousand, and now numbers about twenty-three thousand inhabitants, with a more promising future than any other city in Indiana—owing partly to the immense development of coal in the immediate vicinity, which, for smelting purposes, is equal to any in the United States, which, by the energy of this and surrounding towns is causing millions of dollars to be rapidly invested in the iron interest.

Below we give a brief chronological sketch of the early inhabitants; Incidents of the first settlers; a brief mention and review of the most important events of the wide-famed warfare with the Indians, in the year 1812; its success and final results in bringing about a conquered and satisfactory peace; with other items of local importance of the city of Terre Haute and surrounding country.

TERRE HAUTE.

The city of Terre Haute is in north latitude 39°, 25', west longitude 10°, 12', and is the seat of Justice of Vigo county, Indiana. The county was named after Col. Francis Vigo, for many years a citizen of Vincennes, and in memory of the distinguished and disinterested services rendered by him to Gen. Geo. Rogers Clark, while he commanded the Virginia troops, by which he was enabled to subsist his army and to expel the British troops from old "Post Vincent."

As its name imports, TERRE HAUTE is beautifully situated upon high ground, which rises about sixty feet above the river, on the east bank of the Wabash. The name was, at first, applied to an Indian village, about three miles further south, and originated with the French inhabitants who came to the Wabash Valley as early as 1705 and settled at Vincennes. It is seventy-three miles west by south-west of Indianapolis and sixty miles north of Vincennes. Its location is about equi-distant between the site of the Indian village and old Fort Harrison—a spot made somewhat classic by the fact of its having been the scene of a fierce and sanguinary conflict between our troops, under the command of Capt. (afterwards Gen.) Zachary Taylor, and the Indians who occupied the adjacent country. This battle was fought September 5, 1812, and was so disastrous to the Indians that they never afterwards made a combined attempt to re-possess any of the lands, in this section of Indiana, of which the whites had taken possession. By it and the previous battle of Tippecanoe, November 7, 1811, won by troops commanded by Gen. Wm. Henry Harrison, their power was completely broken and full protection to the frontier population was secured, so that settlements began to spring up in different parts of the Wabash Valley, north of Vincennes.

The town of TERRE HAUTE was laid out in 1816—the year the State of Indiana was admitted into the Union—by Messrs. C. & T. Bullit, of Louisville, Kentucky, and Jonathan Lindlay, of Orange county, Abraham Markle, one of the first settlers upon Fort Harrison Prairie, and Hyacinth Lasselle, of Knox county, Indiana. The county of Vigo then composed a part of the present county of Sullivan, and was subsequently organized under an act of the Legislature of January 21, 1818. TERRE HAUTE was established as the county seat of the new county by virtue of an agreement between Elihu Stout, Esq., Gen. Marston G. Clark and John Allen, Esq., commissioners appointed by this act of the Legislature and the original proprietors, dated March 25, 1818. By the terms of this agreement, they stipulated to convey to the county a number of lots as the consideration of the location. There were, at this time, few houses in the place and no public accommodations. The first day's session of the Circuit Court was held within one month of the date of this agreement, on the fourth Monday of April, 1818, by Moses Hoggatt and James Barnes, Esqs., then Associate Judges of the county, at the house of Truman Blackman, in the country, and the second day's session at the house of Henry Redford, in TERRE HAUTE. The temporary seal of the county was indicative of primitive times, being "a piece of paper, with the words 'Vigo Circuit Court' written thereon, attached to a wafer." The court appointed Nathaniel Huntington, Esq., Prosecuting Attorney; but crime was then unknown, and there was not a single criminal case tried. The Hon. Thomas H. Blake was appointed Circuit Judge by Gov. Jonathan Jennings, May 14, 1818, and held his first Circuit Court in TERRE HAUTE, in July, 1818. The following year the original plat of the town was transferred from the records of Sullivan county and placed upon record in Vigo county, March 24, 1819.

The town site was originally a skirt of woodland, having the river upon one side and Fort Harrison Prairie on the other, the latter being justly noted for the great fertility of its soil and the beauty of its landscapes. Its desirable and advantageous location, in the centre of one of the richest agricultural regions of the west, soon attracted a population distinguished for enterprise and intelligence. It being the point at which the National Road crossed the Wabash River and that at which the Wabash & Erie Canal diverges from the course of the river and passes into the interior, it derived essential advantages from these improvements. With their aid it became the centre of an active and flourishing trade and the principal shipping point on the canal between Lafayette and Evansville. The old western flat-boat—the Mississippi Broad-Horn—was not yet, however, driven from the waters of the Wabash. It still continued to carry immense freights of pork, corn and other products to New Orleans, the only market the west then had. It yielded its place only to the superior power of steam; and as it passed away, TERRE HAUTE, like many other western towns, had opened before it new fields of enterprise and prosperity. Its present commercial character takes its date from the completion of the Terre Haute & Indianapolis Railroad, which gave it direct connection with the eastern cities. From this time its growth has been constantly progressive, until, with like advantages derived from the Terre Haute, Alton & St. Louis and the Evansville & Crawfordsville Railroads, its population has reached twenty-three thousand inhabitants, who are distinguished no less for their enterprise, liberality and public spirit than for their hospitality and refinement.

None of the first settlers of TERRE HAUTE are now residing here. The oldest citizens are Curtis Gilbert, Esq., who was the first Clerk of the county, and Chauncey Rose, Esq., who has been long known for his active agency in advancing the prosperity of the place. The Terre Haute & Indianapolis Railroad was built chiefly through the instrumentality and liberality of Mr. Rose, and to him and his successors in its management are the public indebted for that security which all feel who pass over this most excellent road. Mr. Rose has also rendered most material assistance to each of the other railroads terminating here; and by these and other local improvements, projected by him from time to time, has acquired the well-earned reputation of a public benefactor.

TERRE HAUTE possesses great commercial advantages. It is a point to which an immense trade, from every direction, must always converge—being too remote from any other city in Indiana or Illinois for commercial rivalry. It is nearly equi-distant from Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Louisville, with each of which cities it has direct connection by railroad. It is also connected with the Lakes at Toledo, by the Wabash & Erie Canal, and with the Ohio river by railroad to Evansville, and by light-draught steamers down the Wabash. A new line of railroad is also in progress from St. Louis to TERRE HAUTE, by way of Vandalia, Illinois, which will materially shorten the distance between Indianapolis and St. Louis, and open up an increased and valuable trade. Its local trade is now rapidly increasing with the rich and populous counties which lie contiguous to Vigo, in both Indiana and Illinois. The enterprise of the citizens is now actively aroused, and manufacturing establishments are springing up in every direction. A large iron rolling-mill is now in progress and is nearly completed, to which an extensive nail factory will be attached. There are six steam flouring mills, all in successful operation—two extensive and flourishing woolen manufactories—three iron foundries, besides numerous other establishments in almost every branch of trade—all in a most prosperous condition. With an abundant supply of the best coal in the West, and with iron ore almost in its immediate vicinity, it has advantages for manufacturing possessed by very few other places in the country. These and other considerations combine to establish its prosperity upon a permanent foundation, and nothing can prevent it from becoming one of the most flourishing, as it is now conceded on all hands to be, one of the most beautiful cities in the State, if not in the West.

TERRE HAUTE has a large wholesale and retail trade in dry goods and groceries; two national banks; several private banks conducted by men of the highest character and responsibility; two daily newspapers, extensively patronized; four job printing offices, with a book-bindery; five commodious hotels; a street railroad; a well managed fire department, with two steam fire-engines, and its streets are lighted with gas.

In educational advantages, TERRE HAUTE has but few rivals in Indiana. In addition to her well conducted public schools, accommodated by large and elegant buildings in the First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth wards, she has, in the city and vicinity, large and commodious colleges devoted to the education of young ladies and misses. One known as ST. AGNES HALL, located in the southern portion of the city, is one of the finest buildings in the State, and cost, including furniture, &c., over one hundred thousand dollars. This building, and the school, is under the patronage of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and was adopted as a church school by the Diocesan Convention in 1866. It is capable of accommodating three hundred boarding pupils, besides day scholars to a large extent. The school is under the direction of the best and ablest teachers, and its general affairs are managed by some of the leading citizens of the city; and, we can say from personal observation, is one of the most progressive and carefully governed educational institutions in the western country, and is largely patronized from all parts of the country, as well as eastern, western and southern cities. ST. MARY'S OF THE WOODS, another female college of high repute, is managed by the Sisters of Providence,—that self-denying order of Catholic ladies long ago become famous as teachers This institution is located four miles west of TERRE HAUTE, and was organized about the year 1841, as a seminary of learning. It was subsequently chartered by the legislature. The buildings are large, roomy and elegant, and the healthfulness of the location all that could be desired. This female college has grown wonderfully in the public esteem, and is now one of the most popular in the State. There is scarcely a town of any size in the State that has not contributed pupils to it.

TERRE HAUTE has a large supply of churches. The Methodists have two, the Congregationalists one, the Baptists two, the Catholics two, the Episcopalians one, the Lutherans one, the "Christians" one, the New School Presbyterians one, the Old School Presbyterians one, the United Brethren one, the Universalists one, and there is one belonging to the colored Methodists—in all fifteen.

When the Normal School building, now in progress, shall be completed, it will add very materially to the prosperity of TERRE HAUTE by making it the center of eduational influences, which will be extended throughout the State. This city, therefore, has before it a brilliant future, which, by means of the enterprise, liberality, taste and refinement of its inhabitants, is destined, ere many years shall have passed, to be one of the leading commercial cities of the West, possessing all the accommodations and advantages of the best New England cities; and we can but wish it unlimited success and prosperity.

GREENCASTLE, INDIANA.

The capital of Putnam county is a fair western town, pleasantly situated on the line of the Terre Haute and Indianapolis, and Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railroads, thirty-five miles east of Terre Haute and thirty-nine miles west of Indianapolis, having an average population of five thousand persons, containing one woolen factory, forty by sixty feet, three stories, machinery run by steam-power, employing about thirty hands, running eight looms with three hundred and eighty-four spindles, working up forty thousand pounds of wool annually. This factory is at present owned and run by Birch Brothers. One planing mill owned by Goulding & Ireland, a building forty by sixty feet, two stories, run by steam, from which is manufactured flooring, mouldings, sash, doors and blinds, complete. One pump factory, owned and run by Cole Brothers & Brockway, working fifteen hands, making five thousand pumps, using four hundred thousand feet of lumber annually. These pumps took premiums at the Indiana State fair in 1867. Two flouring mills, one owned by William J. Gage & Son, main building, forty by fifty feet; three stories, ware house forty by fifty feet, runs four burrs, with a capacity of one thousand barrels of flour per week. One foundry owned by W. D. Wilson & Co., employing sixteen hands, building fifty by one hundred and twenty feet, two stories. One nail works, owned by a joint stock association, building one hundred and seventy by one hundred and eighty feet, using two engines and four boilers, with a capacity of three hundred kegs of nails per day. One furniture factory, owned by Kimble, Sherfy & Co., employing twenty hands, manufacturing $20,000 worth of goods annually. Aside from many fine business houses, there is a good system of free schools; one commercial college, one theological college, known as the Indiana Asbury University, under the control of the Methodist Episcopal church, with an average attendance of three hundred and fifty students. This institution is one of the best in the State, with an interest bearing fund of over $100,000. There is also a street railroad extending from one depot to the other through the town, affording great convenience.

SULLIVAN, INDIANA,

Is a flourishing town of forty-five hundred inhabitants, situated near the line of the Evansville & Crawfordsville railroad, twenty-six miles south of Terre Haute, and eighty-three miles north of Evansville, is the capital of Sullivan county, and contains one flouring mill, one woolen factory, owned by Jewett Bros., a fine brick structure, with a large capacity; two hotels, one cooper shop, one stave factory, owned by John Otto, added to some fifty fine business houses, embracing all the different staples, and affording a fair convenience for the consumption of its inhabitants, as well as that of surrounding villages. It has a number of fine churches and a fine system of public schools.

ROCKVILLE, INDIANA,

Is situated at the northern terminus of the Evansville & Crawfordsville railroad, twenty-three miles north of Terre Haute, in a rich agricultural district, in the interior; is the county seat of Park county; has a population of about three thousand five hundred, chiefly engaged in furnishing the surrounding country with articles manufactured and purchased in other cities, and receiving in exchange the various products of the soil of every nature. The town contains one flouring mill, one woolen mill, one planing mill and lumber yard, two hotels and a number of good business houses, each doing a good trade. It also has one enterprising newspaper, which adds materially to the intelligence of its inhabitants. Its system of public schools is fair and on the increase.

SPENCER, INDIANA.

The county seat of Owen county is located about thirty-three miles south-east of Terre Haute, and forty-six miles south-west of Indianapolis, on the line of the Indianapolis & Vincennes railroad, is a good lively town, whose commercial interests are on the increase. The town contains at present one flouring mill, one woolen factory, two hotels, two enterprising weekly newspapers. On the completion of the railroad running between Vincennes and Indianapolis, this town will be brought into communication with other cities and must necessarily be benefitted thereby.

BOWLING-GREEN, INDIANA,

Is the county seat of Clay county, the immense coal region, and ere many years will be a town of some notoriety. It contains at present about one thousand inhabitants. The town at present has one flouring mill, one woolen factory, one hotel, added to several stores, dealing in merchandise, which form an exchange for the products of the surrounding country.

BRAZIL, INDIANA,

Is a fine manufacturing town, situated on the line of the Terre Haute & Indianapolis railroad, sixteen miles from Terre Haute, and fifty-seven miles from Indianapolis, in a rich mining district, where coal, iron ore, and building-stone, are found in unlimited abundance, which is causing millions of dollars to be invested annually in order to develop the unlimited wealth which lies hidden beneath the surface, only waiting a chance for development. The town contains at present one good flouring mill, having three run of burrs with a capacity to manufacture one hundred barrels of flour daily; one woolen factory, running seven looms with two hundred and twenty spindles, with a capacity to manufacture eight hundred yards of cloth per week; one pottery, from which is manufactured a fine quality of yellow earthen-ware, with a capacity of seventy-five thousand gallons annually. There is, also, an extensive smelting furnace, from which (although recently erected) thousands of tons of pig iron are monthly turned out, manufactured from the iron ore, by the assistance of the limestone and coal which abound in the vicinity, and from this source, the present village of Brazil will eventually acquire as world-wide a fame as the present cities of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, or Cleveland, Ohio. Two miles east of this, on the line of the same railroad, is located a recently established village, known as

KNIGHTSVILLE OR HAZLETOWN, INDIANA,

Which, owing to the development in its vicinity of the immense coal beds and deposits of iron ore as well as limestone and building stone, which are an immense source of revenue, is attracting the attention of capitalists, who are making large investments in lands in the vicinity as well as in the village. The town contains a fine list of inhabitants, one large smelting furnace, which employs a large number of operatives and produces thousands of tons of pig iron annually. Its people are enterprising and industrious, and their town is bound to increase in importance and wealth.

PARIS, ILLINOIS.

The county seat of Edgar county is situated on the line of the St. Louis, Alton & Terre Haute R. R., nineteen miles west of Terre Haute and one hundred and seventy miles east from St. Louis, is a town of about three thousand five hundred inhabitants, has suffered greatly in the past two years by heavy fires, which have greatly depreciated its commercial importance. It contains at present two banks, one distillery, two hotels, one insurance company, one woolen mill and several good business houses, each doing a good business.

Marshall, Dudley, Darwin, Charleston and Livingston, Illinois, and Clinton, Roseville, Perrysville, Staunton, Coverland, Sanford, Gallatin, Newport, Highland, Indiana, and many other towns and villages which we include in this work, are towns of importance, each doing a fair trade, and are increasing slowly in population, and ere long will figure in the pages of commercial history more largely than at present. To the patrons of this book, in each of these towns, as well as in the city of Terre Haute, do we return our best wishes of success in their several pursuits, avocations and professions, trusting that in future years, in the revision of this work as well as in the delivery of this issue, to receive the hearty commendation and an occasional word of good cheer or congratulation for the faithful execution of our promise to them and the public to publish a work worthy the excellent reputation this Prairie City of the West, and her associates, have honestly gained and richly deserve.

To the advertising patrons of this work, are we specially obliged, and trust that the zealous effort put forth by us to prudently set forth their several interests, will be appreciated and they be benefitted by an increased prosperity, which they so honestly deserve, for stepping forth and sustaining a laudable public enterprise, by their willing, liberal patronage; thus bidding us a hearty welcome among their midst, giving us the free hand of fellowship of the enterprising western man.

To the press and kind friends we are under lasting obligations for the assistance rendered our agents in gathering the necessary information for the completion of this useful work, and trust that their kindness and assistance has not been misapplied, and hope that on seeing the work they will not hesitate to show their hearty endorsement.

We lay this work before the public, trusting they will commend our efforts and show their approval practically by securing a copy of the work for convenience and reference in business, and in future years be able to look back and say truthfully that they each had the enterprise and public spirit to help show up these towns in their earlier struggles, as well as sustain that class of publishers who are not only willing to receive the patronage of the public, but show a generous liberality by producing a publication which speaks well in appearance as in fact; and our special request to all is, in the future, to give to any honest, enterprising publisher or editor, your hearty support, and you will never regret your investments; but to that swindling class of mere pretenders, who with large pretentions receive a patronage and produce nothing in return, we ask each one, as a protection to themselves, to show them no quarter, as they are naught but a skim and swindle upon the public.

We hope that all will pardon the few errors that may be found in this work, as no work of this nature can be made absolutely perfect; yet we have endeavored to approximate perfection in this; and, wishing all enterprising men of the West unlimited prosperity, we remain continually, yours truly,

ST. AGNES' HALL,

TERRE HAUTE, INDIANA.

ORGANIZED 1857.

Incorporated 1864, under the auspices of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The buildings of St. Agnes Hall, which were erected upon the most approved plan, with a special view to educational purposes, and at a cost of over $60,000, consist of three substantial and commodious brick structures, heated throughout by steam and lighted by gas, with all requisite out-buildings, and three tasteful cottage residences, situated in an ornamental enclosure of eight and one-half acres of ground in the most beautiful suburbs of the city of Terre Haute. The main buildings contain one hundred and fifteen apartments, including a large Chapel, Refectory, Recitation Rooms, Studio, Laboratory, Society Hall, and elegant Drawing Rooms, and offer every requisite for comfort and health, and every facility for the attainment of knowledge that could be demanded. An observatory with revolving dome, supplied with a fine refracting Telescope, equatorially mounted, a splendid set of Globes, one of the best London Microscopes, a complete Chemical, Philosophical and Astronomical Apparatus, an incipient Cabinet of Minerals, and a Library of several hundred volumes, are at the service of the pupils.

The Scholastic year is divided into two terms, the first commencing on the first Wednesday in September of each year and continuing twenty-one weeks, with a vacation of one week at Christmas. The Spring term commences on the last Wednesday in January and continues twenty weeks. The annual examinations and commencement exercises occur at the close of the Spring term, during the third week of June.

TOWN LOTS FOR SALE.

A PAYING INVESTMENT.

KNIGHTSVILLE, INDIANA.

The undersigned, having laid off into town lots, forty acres of his land, two miles east of Brazil, Clay county, Indiana, on the line of the Terre Haute & Indianapolis Railroad, and in the center of the great coal beds of this section, which are already attracting the attention of the capitalists and iron manufacturers, would respectfully invite the attention of persons who may desire to secure a home and make a safe and remunerative investment of their funds, to the great bargains which he is offering in the sale of these lots. This locality is destined, at no distant day, to be the center of the most extensive iron manufactories west of Pittsburg; already the finger of progress is pointing in this direction. Several iron furnaces and rolling mills are already in course of construction in this vicinity, and others will follow rapidly as the mineral wealth of the county is developed. Now is the time to make the investment.

THE WISE WILL HEED THE

ADMONITION AND REAP THE REWARD.

The plat of these lots is open for inspection at the store of the undersigned; call and see it and make your selections, or address the owner by letter, for any information.

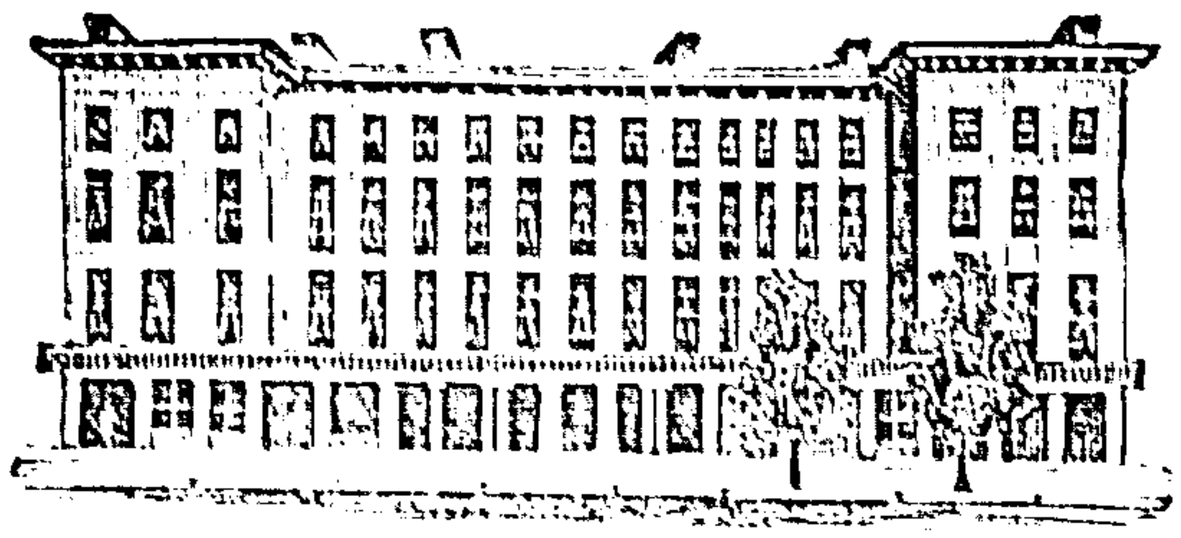
PHILLIPS HOUSE

S. W. COR. MAIN AND THIRD STREETS,

DAYTON, OHIO.



To merit the patronage of the public, I have, regardless of expense, thoroughly renovated the House, so as to insure my guests comfortable and well-furnished apartments, which, with a complete staff of obliging assistants, and a "Bill of Fare" including every luxury of the season, will, I am assured, in the estimation of the traveling community, vie with any in the country. The central location of the "Phillips," immediately opposite the County Court House, near the Post-Office, Express Offices, Banks and places of amusement, makes it a most desirable stopping place for the business and pleasure-seeking public. Remember,

THE "PHILLIPS" IS

THE ONLY FIRST CLASS HOTEL IN THE CITY.

The Office, Bar, Billiard Room, Barber Emporium, Coat, Baggage and Wash Rooms, are on the ground floor, making it more convenient than ever. "THE CHARGES ARE MODERATE."

L. REIBOLD, Proprietor.

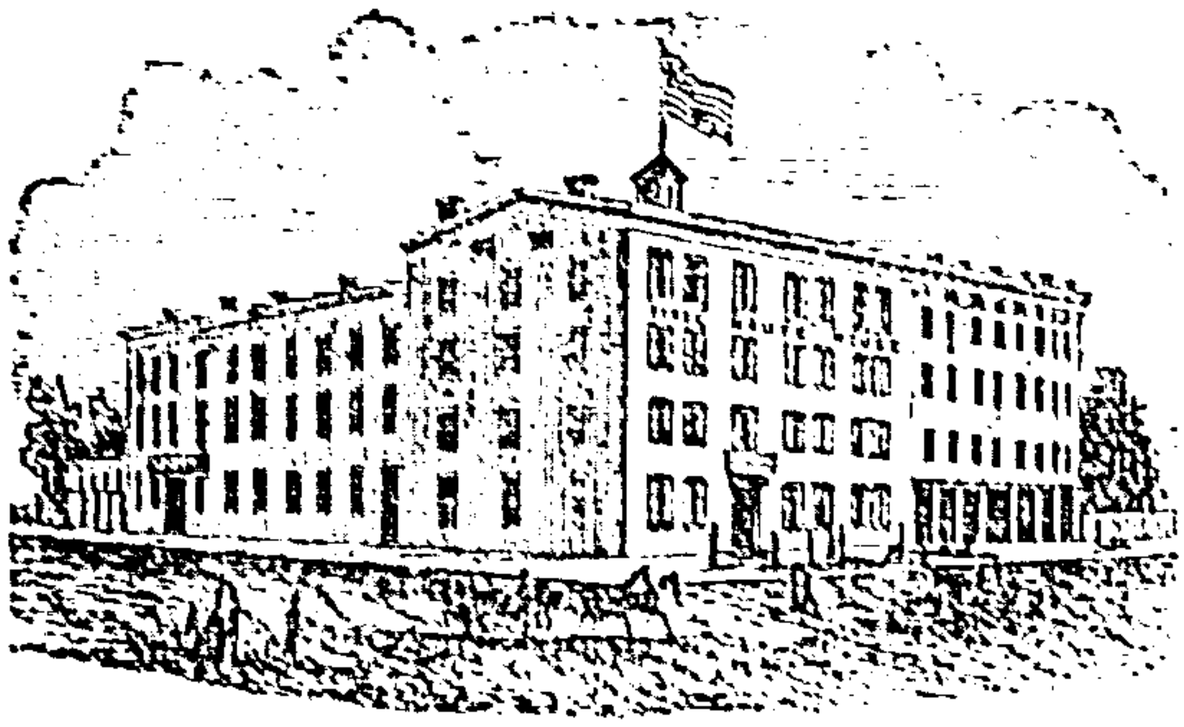
TERRE HAUTE HOUSE,



TERRE HAUTE, INDIANA,

CORNER SEVENTH AND MAIN STREETS.

This Hotel is the largest in the city, is conveniently located on the principal street leading from the depot to the center of business. The Street Cars pass the House every ten minutes, running to and from all trains, either day or night, carrying all guests of this House free.

The internal arrangement of the House shows a careful forethought in its erection and finish; and furnishes comfort and convenience to all who patronize it, at no greater cost than is charged by other hotels for more inferior accommodations. The House is neatly furnished in every department.

The Table Affording Every Delicacy the Market Produces.

The House furnishes a Bar in good style, with a Billiard Room and Barber's Emporium adjoining the office; there is, also, an

ARTESIAN BATH

Owned by the House. The whole combined, affords to the traveler and the public, accommodation of a modern western hotel, and those desiring comfort, will do well to PATRONIZE THIS HOTEL on visiting Terre Haute.

Watches and Jewelry,

SILVER AND PLATED-WARE,

WATCH-MAKERS' TOOLS AND MATERIALS,

FINE JEWELRY AND PRECIOUS STONES.

FREEMAN'S NEW AND IMPROVED

PANTASCOPIC SPECTACLES,

ARE THE BEST AIDS TO THE SIGHT OF ANY IN USE.

These spectacles possess every advantage known to the science of optics. They are more symmetrical and becoming in their forms and proportions than any others. The LENSES are of the PUREST AND MOST TRANSPARENT MATERIALS. They are concavo convex, like the external layer of the Crystalline Lens of the Eye, which renders them more efficient and enables the wearer to distinguish the most minute objects, either by day or candle light, with ease, comfort and satisfaction, without any unpleasant glimmering or dizziness in the head, often produced by wearing ordinary glasses. I have a complete assortment of these spectacles in GOLD, SILVER AND STEEL FRAMES, and can fit any eye unless it is so injured by disease that no Spectacles will be of use to it.

THE BEST ENGLISH SPECTACLES,

IN CHEAP FRAMES, AT LOW PRICES,

74 AND 161 MAIN STREET, TERRE HAUTE, IND.

WATCHES

Are injured more by inexperienced workmen in repairing, than by any amount of use in the pocket, and as none but the best workmen are employed, this is the place to leave your watch

DR. WM. THOMSON'S

OFFICE AND CONSULTATION PARLORS

—ARE LOCATED AT—

29 SOUTH DELAWARE STREET, INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

Where he will continue to treat and cure

PRIVATE DISEASES

In all their species, stages, ramifications and phases.

Dr. Thomson will give to each patient a written guarantee, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Dr. Thomson has made the treatment of private diseases a specialty since the year 1851—three years in the city of Buffalo, New York, eight years in Chicago, Illinois, and two years in Peoria, Illinois. During eight years practice in Chicago, he cured over THIRTEEN THOUSAND CASES.

In Dr. Thomson's practice for Scrofulous, Rheumatic and other blood ailments, he uses a Fumigating Vapor Bath of the most ingenious kind, in conjunction with internal treatment.

SEMINAL EMISSIONS, the consequence of self-abuse, is a solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, and noises like the rustling of leaves and rattling of carriages, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, night sweats, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, monomania, and frequently insanity.

INVOLUNTARY SEMINAL EMISSIONS may not make their appearance for many years after the practice of this vice has been discontinued, and the patient may be afflicted with slight derangement of the system for some time before emissions are developed. Therefore, all are cautioned who have been addicted to solitary habits, to be on their guard, and on the first appearance of unusual symptoms, endeavor to avail themselves of the services of the best medical talent, and be cured of this soul-subduing and murderous disease, which destroys both body and mind and renders its victim totally unfit for society or marriage.

Dr. Thomson's success in the treatment of syphilitic diseases, is proverbial. Many of the best and most candid physicians, after having placed their patients under the usual forms of treatment, without satisfactory results, advise them to apply to Dr. Thomson, as

THE ONLY CHANCE OF BEING SAVED.

UNIVERSAL

Life Insurance Company,

OF NEW YORK CITY.

"A GOOD MAN LEAVETH AN INHERITANCE."

The business of this Company is CONFINED EXCLUSIVELY to the INSURANCE OF FIRST CLASS HEALTHY LIVES.

REVERSIONARY DIVIDENDS,

100 PER CENT. OR CASH DIVIDENDS IN ADVANCE.

No Notes taken on which the Insured must pay interest or to be deducted from the amount of the Policy at death.

ALL POLICIES HAVE A CASH SURRENDER VALUE.

SPECIAL FEATURES,

THE STOCK PLAN,

By which the full cash effect of the premium is rendered IMMEDIATE, SECURE AND CERTAIN, in lieu of a dividend, which is distant, contingent and uncertain. LOSSES PAID IN THIRTY DAYS after due notice and proof of death.

HOME OFFICE, NEW YORK CITY.

Office Western Department, 21 La Salle Street, Chicago.

CHAS. GILMAN SMITH, M. D., Medical Director. T. ORMSBEE, Manager.

THE PREMIUMS

Charged by the UNIVERSAL, are as low as the actual experience of insured life in this country will justify, and on the ordinary Life and Ten Year Non-Forfeiture Policies, are nearly ONE-THIRD LOWER than those charged by the majority of MUTUAL COMPANIES.

"The cheapest rates of premium consistent with entire and perfect safety to the insured, best subserve the public interests, and operate to extend the benefits of these beneficent institutions. It is needless and expensive to pay over money or notes to a Life Assurance Company for the purpose only of having the same returned." Hon. William Barnes' Report, 1861.

VETERAN OF TWO WARS DIES AT AGE OF EIGHTY ONE YEARS

Colonel Charles W. Smith Ends Life of Distinguished Service After Protracted Illness.

Colonel Charles W. Smith, veteran of two wars, and well-known in railroad circles of this city died Monday afternoon at 1:15 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Belle Stevens, 812 Eagle street. Colonel Smith, born in Middletown, Ohio, learned the tinner's trade in Cincinnati, and when a young man led a filibustering expedition from the union states to Cuba. His army career began as a private in the Mexican war and ended with him as a colonel at the close of the civil war. In 1867 he accepted a position in the newly established mail service as a temporary employment, but continued in that position for forty years having retired but three years ago.

When he retired on pension he was the oldest man, in age, in the service being 79. He made a daily trip between Terre Haute and Evansville for thirty years, after which he became mail transfer agent at the Union station, which position he held for ten years.

When a young man in Cincinnati, in the latter '50's of the last century he took 100 young men to New Orleans to be part of the command of 700 men led by Lopez in the first Cuban filibustering expedition from the United States. There was an all-day fight at Cardenas, but the filibusters got away on their ship and put in at Key West. The Spanish government demanded them as pirates, but Uncle Sam would not deliver them. Young Smith had a weary time getting back to Cincinnati. Later he moved to Terre Haute and when the Thirty-first Indiana went to the front in the civil war in 1861 he was a captain. He became lieutenant-colonel and was in command of the regiment in the closing battles of the war in which the regiment participated. In 1867 his store in Terre Haute being destroyed by fire and having no insurance he accepted a place in the newly established railway mail service as temporary employment, but which continued forty years.

He was an influential member of the G. A. R. and was instrumental in the erection of the statue of Indiana's war governor, Oliver P. Morton, which now stands in the state house yard in Indianapolis.

RE HAUTE LOSES OLD AND DISTINGUISHED CITIZEN

olonel Charles W. Smith, the old ier who died Monday at the adeal age of 81 years, was widely wn in this city. He had for many s been prominent as a member of G. A. R. and as a mail clerk at the on depot. He fought in the Mexand civil wars, and was influenin the erection of the statue of ana's war governor, Oliver P. Morat Indianapolis.

Entered according to act of Congress, in the year 1872, by Ingalls & Company, in the office of the Librarian of Congress at Washington.

INTRODUCTORY.

In presenting this, our first DIRECTORY OF TERRE HAUTE, to the public, we would respectfully acknowledge our obligations to the leading business men of the city for the liberal patronage which has enabled us to issue so complete and valuable a work. No pains or expense have been spared in its compilation, and it is confidently believed that in accuracy and completeness it will afford to its patrons and the public entire satisfaction.

The exhibit of the advantages and attractions of Terre Haute, of its leading mercantile, manufacturing and mining interests, together with the carefully prepared STATISTICAL TABLES, forms a new and important feature of great value.

If any errors or omissions should be detected in the work it is sufficient to say that no vigilance could entirely prevent them.

INTRODUCTORY.

We present the following pages to the public for two reasons.

First. To present a brief and reliable outline of the history, advantages and attractions of Terre Haute as a location for business or manufacturing enterprise, and as a place of residence.

Second. To furnish an exhibit of its present business facilities, with statistical tables showing the relative importance and amount of the various branches in both trade and manufactures, together with a complete and correct classified business directory.

We would hereby acknowledge the assistance rendered us by prominent gentlemen of the city, who have prepared the articles which appear under their respective names, as also to many others, including the City Officers, for valuable suggestions and assistance in the compilation of the work.

TERRE HAUTE, INDIANA.

SETTLEMENT AND EARLY HISTORY.

BY GEN. CHARLES CRUFT.

The City of TERRE HAUTE, INDIANA, ranks fourth in the State, as to population and business. It is situated on the eastern bank of the Wabash River; in Vigo county, of which it is the county seat. Its location is one of peculiar beauty; its streets, wide and spacious, are adorned with shade trees in great variety, whilst its buildings, both public and private, rank it as one of the most substantial cities of the West.

It was laid out by a company in 1816, styled the "Terre Haute Company." In 1818 Vigo county was organized, and Terre Haute chosen as the county seat. From that date its growth commenced, making it the chief commercial point for a large section of country, which distinction it holds to the present day.

A large share of its early settlers were from the New England States, a hardy race, men of great energy of character and intelligence, who did much toward forming the high business and social character it which has always maintained.

Its growth down to 1850 was steady, but not rapid. Since that date it has risen with a constantly increasing ratio, until now the PRAIRIE CITY is the pride and boast of the Wabash Valley, with twenty thousand inhabitants.

The site of the city being about sixty feet above the river, the soil a rich, gravelly loam, precludes the necessity of artificial sewers for drainage, and makes it one of the most attractive places for residence in the State, as it has long been noted for the salubrity of its climate and general healthfulness. Surrounded by one of the finest agricultural districts the in world, the opening of extensive block coal beds and the rich mines of iron ore, with extensive quarries of building stone, all contribute toward making Terre Haute the center of a vast trade and the seat of extensive manufacturing interests in all future time. These advantages, together with the facilities of transportation both by river and the numerous railroads, completed and prospective, centering here, have already attracted a large amount of capital from Eastern States, now invested in our extensive manufactures of iron, nails, railroad cars, steam engines, etc. The success which has attended all these various enterprises hitherto, affords complete demonstration as to the superior advantages of the city as a location for new enterprises, in both commerce and manufactures. The reputation of the business men of Terre Haute has always been that of high toned, responsible gentlemen, with broad and liberal views, always ready to extend a hearty welcome to every new enterprise, as to strangers seeking for locations for business, and at the same time fostering the institutions of learning and religion with a liberal hand.

Society has profited by and taken tone from the impulse early given, so that in refinement and culture the city is second to no city in the State. In the various professions are found many men of superior talent, ranking with the foremost of their class, and giving to the advantages of wealth the added influence of distinction, such as goes to make up the reputation and character of the best communities in state or nation.

CITY GOVERNMENT AND FINANCES.

Terre Haute was incorporated as a town by virtue of an act of the General Assembly, approved January, 1832, under the name and style of the "President and Trustees of the town of Terre Haute."

The town was divided into five wards and one Trustee was elected for each.

These Trustees elected the first municipal officers of the town, which were: President, James B. McCall; Clerk, James T. Moffat; Assessor, Charles G. Taylor; Treasurer, Samuel Crawford; Constable and Collector, William Mars.

This system of government continued until 1838, when, by act of Legislature, a new charter was granted, which provided for the election of a Mayor and ten Councilmen. This charter was accepted by a vote of the citizens, March, 1838.

In the following May an election was held for Mayor and Councilmen, Elijah Tillotson being elected the first Mayor of the town.

In 1843 the office of Mayor was abolished by a special act of the Legislature, the enforcement of the ordinances was left to magistrates, and other duties of Mayor were transferred to the President of the Common Council.

Under the New Constitution of the State of Indiana, a general law was enacted in 1852, which provided for the incorporation of cities, authorizing towns having a population of three thousand inhabitants and upward to become incorporated. In April, 1853, Terre Haute became incorporated as a city under said act.

The first election was held May 30, 1853, and William K. Edwards was chosen the first Mayor of the city, and re-elected to the office the next year.

From that time to the present the charter of the city has continued substantially unaltered—James Hook, C. Y. Patterson, W. H. Stewart, Albert Lange, and G. F. Cookerly, having successively served as Mayor, conducting the affairs of the municipality with credit to themselves and to the satisfaction of the people.

The present officers of the city are:

MAYOR—Alexander Thomas.

COUNCILMEN—Matthew Bridenthal, Michael Byers, Frank C. Crawford, William S. Clift, Elijah F. Gilman, Jacob W. Miller, Parker Milligan, William F. Otte, Samuel T. Reese, Josiah R. Whittaker.

CLERK—Frederick Schwingrouber.

TREASURER—John Paddock.

Extracts from the annual address of Mayor Thomas to the City Council, May 14, 1872:

"The past fiscal year has been one of general and safe prosperity, of good growth, without any of those spasmodic prosperities which so often characterize some cities in the West. Ours has been of that character, which we can, without doubt, consider the most permanent, sure, safe and reliable. This has been the character of our improvement and prosperity all the time.

Without any exaggeration, it may be safely said that at this time Terre Haute occupies a more enviable position than has befell her lot in times past.

The vast local and mineral resources with which we are surrounded, and which have been so successfully developed in the last year or two, have given our city and surroundings an importance not hitherto thought of by the most sanguine.

It will be but a short time till we have the best railroad center of any city in the West, of a population that does not far exceed our own.

The Cincinnati & Terre Haute Railroad, now being constructed, will give us another thoroughfare to the great block coal fields, but a few miles distant. This will give us three roads tapping this vast field of labor and wealth, all of which will have a tendency to cheapen fuel—a necessity to all—which is a matter of great importance to all our people, both for domestic use and manufacturing purposes.

This road will also open an extensive timbered country, which will be of very great importance to this city.

The Terre Haute & Southwestern Railroad, it is now contended, is a fixed fact. This will give us communication with a fine agricultural country, which will greatly increase our trade in that direction, which has heretofore been but meager for the want of some more lively means of communication. When these two roads are completed we will then have nine railroads centering here; this will make us in point of accessibility, equal to almost any city in the West, even of greater pretensions than ourselves.

The frequent reports of Mr. John Paddock, City Treasurer, have kept the Council and the public well advised of our financial condition.

* * * * * * * * * * * * *

It is with no small degree of pride that I can speak of our public schools, which are the sure foundation of a great and free country. The prosperity of a community, state or nation, depends more than anything else on the general intelligence of all her citizens. The great benefits derived from our present system of public schools are being felt and appreciated by all. Now, at home, we can give our children a fair education, without having to incur the expense of sending them away from home, to be among strangers, without that care and attention of parents which is so necessary at that particular time with young people, when the habits and general character of their lives are being formed.

We have now more than three thousand children enrolled for our public schools. These youths are being educated at public expense, for the public welfare, and I unhesitatingly believe it to be the very best investment that could be made, thus to bring up the youth of the land and fit them to fill, with honor to themselves and credit to the community in which they live, any of the positions of the various walks of life."

Below we give Treasurer's statement of the finances of the city to date:

ASSETS.

Evansville, Terre Haute & Chicago Railroad Stock	$100,000 00

MANUFACTURING ESTABLISHMENTS, IN OPERATION AND IN PROSPECT.

BY JOHN B. HAGER, ESQ.

The prospective manufacturing interests of Terre Haute is an interesting study. But a few years since this was but an agricultural town, and had reached about the highest point in the way of population and business that towns ordinarily reach, whose chief dependence is upon the farming interests.

There is around Terre Haute in every direction, the finest farming country in the world. The prairies seem to invite the farmer to simply take possession and a rich deep soil yields abundant harvests.

Forests of the finest oak, poplar, walnut and all other wood, so necessary to the use of man, exists in limitless quantities. These, with the discovery, of recent date, of block coal and inexhaustable quantities of bituminous coal, underlying the entire country, have attracted the attention of the manufacturers to the enormous wealth of this city and its surroundings.

From a mere village twenty years ago, with all the concomitants of a rural population, where the chief manufactory was perhaps an old flouring mill, and a few other establishments of like magnitude, whose whole trade was in supplying the immediate population with its daily wants, Terre Haute has arisen to the dignity of a city of 20,000 inhabitants, with a system of manufactories which constitute the nucleus of a system so extensive as to satisfy the most ardent longings of every lover of this beautiful city.

The Railroads now entering here and those in prospect, which there is every reason to believe will be built, cannot but help make Terre Haute a manufacturing center for all manufactured articles into which wood and iron enter, second to none in the country.

Many cities sustain manufacturing establishments as a matter of city pride, that have no natural advantages.

The mines and forests of this vicinity furnish such advantages to the enterprising manufacturer as can scarcely be found elsewhere.

The first works of any magnitude erected in this city, aside from the shops of the Terre Haute & Indianapolis Railroad, were the Nail Works. These works are continually progressing in importance and now reach the aggregate of 85,000 kegs per year. Where its progress will stop none can foresee. The Car Works have arisen by rapid degrees to the dignity of being classed with the best manufacturing establishments in this section of the country. From a small concern, employing twenty to thirty hands, it has extended its area of usefulness to the employment of probably 140 men with a business of over half a million dollars per annum.

The prosperous condition of the Blast Furnace has demonstrated the wisdom of its location here, where abundance of the finest water can be obtained through the entire year.

The machine shops, boiler shops, cooper shops, stove works, glass works, hub and spoke factory, hominy mills, woolen mills, flouring mills, carriage manufactories, stone yards, stove manufactories, and the great multitude of smaller establishments—all in the full tide of successful operation, prove the importance and value of this city as a point where manufacturing can be most economically and profitably prosecuted.

The attention of foreign capitalists is attracted to these considerations and it will not be considered extravagant to predict that in less than a decade Terre Haute will take a front rank among the manufacturing cities of the world.

MINES AND COAL MINING.

BY S. H. BOTTER, ESQ.

No city of Indiana, or of the West, has a coal interest equal in value and importance to that of Terre Haute. Such is her position in this respect that she may proudly, and without arrogance, boast a little, and challenge any rival to compete with her in a future development of manufactories and material growth.

She sits as a Queen upon one of the most beautiful prairies of the West. The site is upon high and undulating ground, dry at all seasons, gently sloping to the north, east, and south, with a high bluff flanking the view on the west, affording sufficient low ground between the bank and high water mark for the location of numberless manufacturing establishments, and for manufacturing purposes, for the making of iron from the ore, iron of all kinds, steel and nails and every other class of manufactures. For fuel and for steam, no city can command coal as cheap as Terre Haute. It is on every side of her, east, west, north and south, and good railroads, amply equipped, affording cheap transportation, penetrate all these vast coal fields.

To trace the history and development of this coal interest, we must go back in the history of Terre Haute to about 1833, when a few wagon loads of inferior yellowish surface coal was brought to town from Honey Creek and sold to blacksmiths.

No one at this time thought of substituting coal for the best of hickory, beech and maple wood, which could be had for one dollar and twenty-five cents per cord.

But coal was known to exist in large quantities in the hills and bluffs on the west side of the river, distant only from one to four miles, and this knowledge reached one Jacob Thompson, of the city of New York, about 1838, who came hither, entered into partnership with a citizen of this place—who is still living—and embarked in the first really coal enterprise of the day.

The place selected for developing coal and loading boats for New Orleans was the high bluffs six to eight miles up the river, on the west side. Large quantities of coal was mined out by slopes, loaded into rickety barges, but none ever reached New Orleans. The low stage of water, when ready to embark, precluded their going out, and they sank along the shore. The enterprise proved a failure and a severe pecuniary loss to the parties concerned. The enthusiastic

Thompson did, however, convince some of the old Terre Hauteans that the stuff was good to burn in grates. But times have changed, and nothing has contributed to this change so greatly as Railroads. We have two to the west, and it is but one and one half to four miles to the coal fields, where, at the depth of fifty feet, a four to seven foot coal vein is found, and this coal is delivered to manufacturing establishments in Terre Hauteat two dollars per ton of 2000 lbs.

The Terre Haute, Danville & Chicago railroad passes through an equally rich coal field to the north of us, at a distance of thirteen to twenty-five miles. This coal is also furnished at equally low rates.

The Terre Haute & Evansville railroad to Rockville affords equal facilities and penetrates, also, the celebrated block coal region in Parke county.

Now turning to the east and southeast, we have three excellent railroads penetrating and crossing the bituminous and block coal district of this and adjoining counties, at a distance of only seven to sixteen miles, the like of which the world furnishes hardly a parallel. First we have the six and seven feet veins of rich bituminous coal at a distance of only seven to ten miles, which are being largely worked and supplying the market at about $2.00 per ton of 2,000 lbs. Next, at the distance of sixteen and twenty miles, we strike the block coal district, which is of more recent discovery and development. It is now scarcely five years since the value of this coal became known as a fuel for smelting iron. Some shrewd and observing iron men from Pennsylvania were the first to make the discovery, and profit thereby by making purchases and obtaining leases of coal lands. Previous to the discovery of the great value of the block coal those lands could be bought at from ten to twenty dollars an acre. They are now held at from one to two hundred dollars an acre. Then it was not known that there was more than a single vein, called the upper, or hill strata, which averaged about three feet nine inches in thickness. Within the last year a lower vein four feet in thickness has been developed at a depth of only twenty-five feet in the creek bottoms, and from seventy to eighty feet on the high grounds. This lower vein is found to be more free from sulphur than the upper vein, hence a very superior article of coal for the iron furnace. This block coal is mined by means of slopes and shafts for the upper vein, and by shafts alone for the lower. It is supplied to consumers in Terre Haute at about $2.50 per ton of 2,000 lbs.

The daily shipment of this coal to Terre Haute, Indianapolis, New Albany, Evansville, Chicago, St. Louis, and to many other points amounts to from five to ten thousand tons, and the five large furnaces already on the ground consume two hundred and fifty to three hundred tons daily, and this is only the beginning.

Let us take a glance at the south. The Terre Haute & Evansville railroad runs directly across a very valuable coal field at a distance of only twenty miles from this city, The coal of that region is being largely developed and mined, it is of excellent quality for grate and steam purposes, and the demand for it is large and constantly increasing. The vein is from six to seven feet in thickness, and the supply inexhaustable.

Now what surpassing advantages do these coal fields afford to Terre Haute? Surely it needs no prophetic wisdom to predict that she will become a large commercial and manufacturing city, and that her growth in the future will surpass even our most sanguine expectations. No one can doubt that there will soon grow up in our midst extensive establishments for the manufacture of all kinds of agricultural implements, mechanics' tools, architectural wares, iron, steel, nails and glassware. A beneficent Providence has provided well-filled bunkers of coal on every side for such enterprises as these. The question then may be asked with all due modesty—where in Indiana, Illinois, or in any other State of the West can capital be so well employed, and with such promise of success, as in the beautiful city of Terre Haute?

MANUFACTURE OF IRON.

BY R. W. THOMPSON, ESQ.

Few points in the West are more advantageously situated for commerce and manufactures than Terre Haute, it being about equi-distant from each of the great leading western cities—Cincinnati, St. Louis, Louisville and Chicago, and located in a section of country unsurpassed in fertility by any in the world. The discovery, within the last few years, of the extensive and rich coal fields of Indiana, having directed public attention and attracted capital to this region, has given an extraordinary impulse to business in Terre Haute and vicinity.

At Brazil, fifteen miles east of Terre Haute, the block or splint coal is used most successfully in five blast furnaces lately erected and now in successful operation. This coal is easy of transportation to Terre Haute, both by the Terre Haute & Indianapolis Railroad, and the Evansville & Crawfordsville Railroad.

Very superior bituminous coal is now mined within two miles of the city, and is found on both sides of the Wabash river. In these coal facilities Terre Haute has greatly the advantage of any other commercial point in Indiana and cannot be surpassed by any point in the United States.

The most intelligent and enterprising iron manufacturers have not been slow to discover this fact, as shown by the extensive iron and nail works already established and in immediate contemplation.

These and other important considerations go to show that the advantages of this city as a point for the manufacture of iron, are far superior to any that can exist either in Tennessee, Georgia or Alabama, hence the Southern States must of necessity depend mainly upon Terre Haute and its vicinity for their supply of iron and iron manufactures, it being nearer to them and in more direct railroad communication with them than any other point in the United States situated within a coal and iron region.

Considered with reference to these distinguished advantages and facilities, Terre Haute stands without a rival. Capital can nowhere else be more safely and profitably invested.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL TRADE.

The wholesale and retail trade of Terre Haute is commensurate with her advantages of position and business facilities. In groceries alone the wholesale trade reaches nearly two millions of dollars annually. The trade in dry goods, notions and millinery goods amounts to over one and a half million dollars annually. Hardware and saddlery hardware also constitute one of the largest branches of trade, the annual sales in which exceed eight hundred thousand dollars. Four large wholesale drug houses have built up an extensive business in that line, with annual sales reaching three hundred thousand dollars. Besides these there are ten retail drug stores with well assorted stocks, doing a good business. The wholesale trade in leather, hides, &c., foots up nearly half a million of dollars, whilst the trade in boots and shoes is commensurately large. The harness trade reaches one hundred thousand dollars. In stoves and tinware the annual sales exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The retail dry goods and carpet business constitutes one of our most prosperous and extensive interests. It is the boast of our citizens that we have here some of the best retail stores in the State. Many of our wealthiest and most influential citizens are engaged in this branch of business, and by their enterprise and reputation for fair dealing have secured to this city the patronage of a wide extent of country, both in Indiana and Illinois, which is thus made to contribute to our growth and prosperity.

The above facts and figures with reference to some of the leading branches of trade, go to show the importance of Terre Haute as a commercial point in business already established. Other branches, too numerous to mention, are carried on here with eminent success, and when we take into account the advantages which will grow out of our increased railroad facilities and the development of our manufacturing and mining interests, it is manifest that in the sure logic of events, the trade of Terre Haute cannot fail to double within the next decade.

BANKS AND BANKING.

BY D. W. MINSHALL.

The banking facilities of Terre Haute are fair and sufficient for the present business demands. The capital employed in this branch of business aggregates about one million dollars, with a deposit line of equal amount.

The National Banks are the "National State Bank," with a capital of $400,000, and the "First National Bank," with a capital of $300,000, both strong and doing a successful and satisfactory business.

The banking house of M'Keen & Minshall, with liberal capital, does a large and prosperous business. There are also two other Banking Houses and a Savings Bank, all under good management, and doing a safe and regular banking business.

TERRE HAUTE GAS LIGHT COMPANY.

BY GEORE RUGAN, ESQ.

The Terre Haute Gas Light Company was established and commenced operations in 1856. There have been laid about ten miles of gas mains: there are seven hundred consumers and two hundred and sixty public lamps. The works are located on Sixth street near the canal, consisting of a retort house, in which are four benches of three retorts, and two of five retorts each, a purifying house and two holders, one forty feet and the other sixty feet in diameter, with a total capacity of seventy-five thousand cubic feet.

These works being too small for the present needs of the city, and to make ample provision for the future wants of the community, new works are in process of erection on the west side of Water street between Poplar and Swan streets. At present a new retort house, with the requisite foundations for ten benches of five retorts each, a purifying house to contain four purifyers, 12x14, and the other necessary appendages, with an office for station meter and business transactions on the south end, coal sheds, etc., will be put in operation this year.

The present officers of the company are: President, Wm. B. Warren; Secretary and Superintendent, George Rugan; Treasurer, W. R. M'Keen. Directors, Wm. B. Warren, Demas Deming, Alex. McGregor, Furman Nippert, D. W. Minshall, W. Riley McKeen, George Rugan.

WATER WORKS.

A company with a liberal charter has been organized by citizens for the purpose of constructing water works during the present summer. The company has procured an eligible site and are now receiving proposals for the construction of the works. When completed, they will add greatly to the manufacturing facilities by furnishing an abundant supply of soft water to all parts of the city.

RAILROADS—COMPLETED AND PROSPECTIVE.

BY W. R. EDWARDS, ESQ.

THE TERRE HAUTE AND INDIANAPOLIS RAILROAD COMPANY

Was chartered January 26, 1847, and organized in April following. The road has been operated 73 miles, between Indianapolis and Terre Haute, since February, 1852. The original corporate name of the Company was "Terre Haute and Richmond," the projectors intending the cities of Terre Haute and Richmond to be the terminal points. In 1851 the line was separated at Indianapolis, by an act of the Legislature. Chauncy Rose was the first President; declining to serve in that position after constructing the road to Indianapolis, he was succeeded by Samuel Crawford. At the death of Mr. Crawford, in 1857, E. I. Peck was elected President and served till June, 1867, when he resigned, and was succeeded by W. R. McKeen, the present incumbent.

The general offices of the Company are at Terre Haute. Several lateral branches, for coal purposes, have been constructed. The main line was extended west from Terre Haute 7 miles to the Illinois State Line, in 1870, to connect with the

ST. LOUIS, VANDALIA AND TERRE HAUTE RAILROAD.

The line of this road is near the old National Road. "State Policy" in Illinois caused the granting of a charter to this road to be refused till 1854, when some work was done. A new charter was obtained in 1865, under which, and the amendments thereto of 1867, the Company was permanently organized, and proceeded to work. In March, 1868, an agreement was made with the Pennsylvania Central and the Terre Haute and Indianapolis Railroad Companies that secured the construction of this road from the State line west to East St. Louis, by the spring of 1870. Under the contract it was leased to the Terre Haute and Indianapolis Railroad Company, by which it is operated. Distance from Indianapolis to East St. Louis is 238 miles, and the route is commonly called the "Vandalia line." G. B. Roberts, of Philadelphia, is President of the corporation. The general offices are at Terre Haute. The officers are those of the Terre Haute & Indianapolis Railroad Company.

THE INDIANAPOLIS AND ST. LOUIS RAILROAD COMPANY

Was chartered under the name of "Terre Haute and Alton," in Illinois, January 28, 1851, and in Indiana February 11, 1851, and organized to construct a road from Terre Haute to the State Line of Illinois, thence to Alton. Phelps, Mattoon & Barnes were the contractors who built the road. In 1855 an act of the Illinois Legislature was passed authorizing the Chicago and Mississippi Railroad Company, the Belleville and Illinoistown Railroad Company, and the Terre Haute and Alton Railroad Company, to make contracts and running arrangements with each other, or to lease or buy the road of the Belleville & I. R. R. Co. The Terre Haute and Alton Railroad Company consolidated with and became the owner of the Belleville and Illinoistown Railroad, and obtained their main line by virtue of amendments made under said act, to East St. Louis, with a branch to Alton. "State Policy" was evaded and the road was at that time put in operation. By acts of the Legislatures of Illinois and Indiana, in 1861, to perfect the title to the purchases of the Terre Haute and Alton Railroad, which had been sold under proceedings of foreclosure, a new company was formed, on the 1st of July, 1862, by the name of "The St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Railroad Company." The road of this Company, in 1868, was leased to the Bellefontaine Railroad Company, and to the Pittsburgh and Ft. Wayne Railroad Company. These companies extended the line from Terre Haute to Indianapolis, completing the same in 1870, and taking a new corporate name, by which the company is now known. The distance from Indianapolis to East St. Louis is 261 miles. The names of the Presidents from time to time, since the original Terre Haute and Alton Company was organized, are Cyrus Edwards, Simeon Ryder, D. B. St. John, Charles Cruft, Thomas Allen, John Stryker, W. D. Griswold, Charles Butler, T. A. Morris and E. W. Woodward. The last named gentleman is the present incumbent. The general offices are at Indianapolis.

THE EVANSVILLE AND CRAWFORDSVILLE RAILROAD COMPANY

Was incorporated January 2, 1849, and was organized in August of that year under the name of "The Evansville and Illinois Railroad Company," to construct a road from Evansville to Mt. Carmel. The year following the charter was amended, authorizing the company to construct their road from Evansville to Vincennes, instead of to Mt. Carmel. Also an act was passed to incorporate "The Wabash Railroad Company," to construct a road from Vincennes to Crawfordsville. The section between Evansville and Vincennes, 51 miles, was mostly constructed under the Presidency of Samuel Hall, and has been operated since January, 1854. Before its final completion, by an act approved March 4, 1853, the two companies named were consolidated and the name of the new corporation was changed to its present title, with the right to own and construct a road from Evansville to Crawfordsville. The section between Vincennes and Terre Haute, 58 miles, was constructed under the Presidency of W. D. Griswold. Chauncey Rose was the financial agent. The line from Evansville to Terre Haute has been operated since December, 1854. The Extension to Rockville, 23 miles, was under the Presidency of John Ingle, Jr., who is still the President. The length of the road is 132 miles. The general offices are at Evansville.

THE EVANSVILLE, TERRE HAUTE & CHICAGO RAILWAY COMPANY

Was organized under the general laws, June 2, 1869, to construct a road from Terre Haute, using 5 89-100 miles of the Rockville Extension of the E. & C. R. R., thence to the State line, and thence to Danville, Illinois. The whole distance is 55 miles, and has been partially operated since early in 1871, and is now in successful operation the whole length. Josephus Collett is the President. The general offices are at Terre Haute.

THE CINCINNATI & TERRE HAUTE RAILWAY COMPANY

Was organized on the 1st of August, 1871, and is under construction, about fifteen miles from Terre Haute being finished.*

OFFICERS.—Alfred Pleasonton, President; C. F. Betts, Secretary; John D. Scully, Treasurer; A. B. Quackenbush, Auditor; Matt P. Wood, General Superintendent; N. M. McDowell, Chief Engineer; Wm. Frazier, General Agent.

DIRECTORS.—Alfred Pleasonton, President, New York; John D. Scully, Treasurer, Cashier First National Bank, Pittsburg; C. F. Betts, Secretary, New York; Hon. Jas. B. Foley, Greensburg, Ind.; James Small, Bloomington, Ind.; L. A. Burnett, Terre Haute, Ind.; Chester J. Lyons, Lyons Falls, New York.

THE PARIS & DECATUR RAILROAD

Was chartered July 18, 1861, at the instance of Chauncey Rose. The war caused a suspension of the enterprise. On July 10, 1869, the present managers commenced earnestly to construct it. It was completed to Paris early this season, when running arrangements were made with the Indianapolis & St. Louis Railroad Company, by which their trains run to Terre Haute. An excursion was made to this city on the 30th of April last, to celebrate the occasion. The excursionists were received with appropriate public ceremonies, and hospitably entertained. A number of the citizens returned with the visitors to Arcola, Illinois, where they were likewise received and entertained. Dwight Hitchcock is President, and R. G. Hervey, Managing Director. Distance from Terre Haute to Arcola, 54 miles, to which point the road is completed. General offices at Paris, Illinois.

THE TERRE HAUTE & SOUTHWESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY

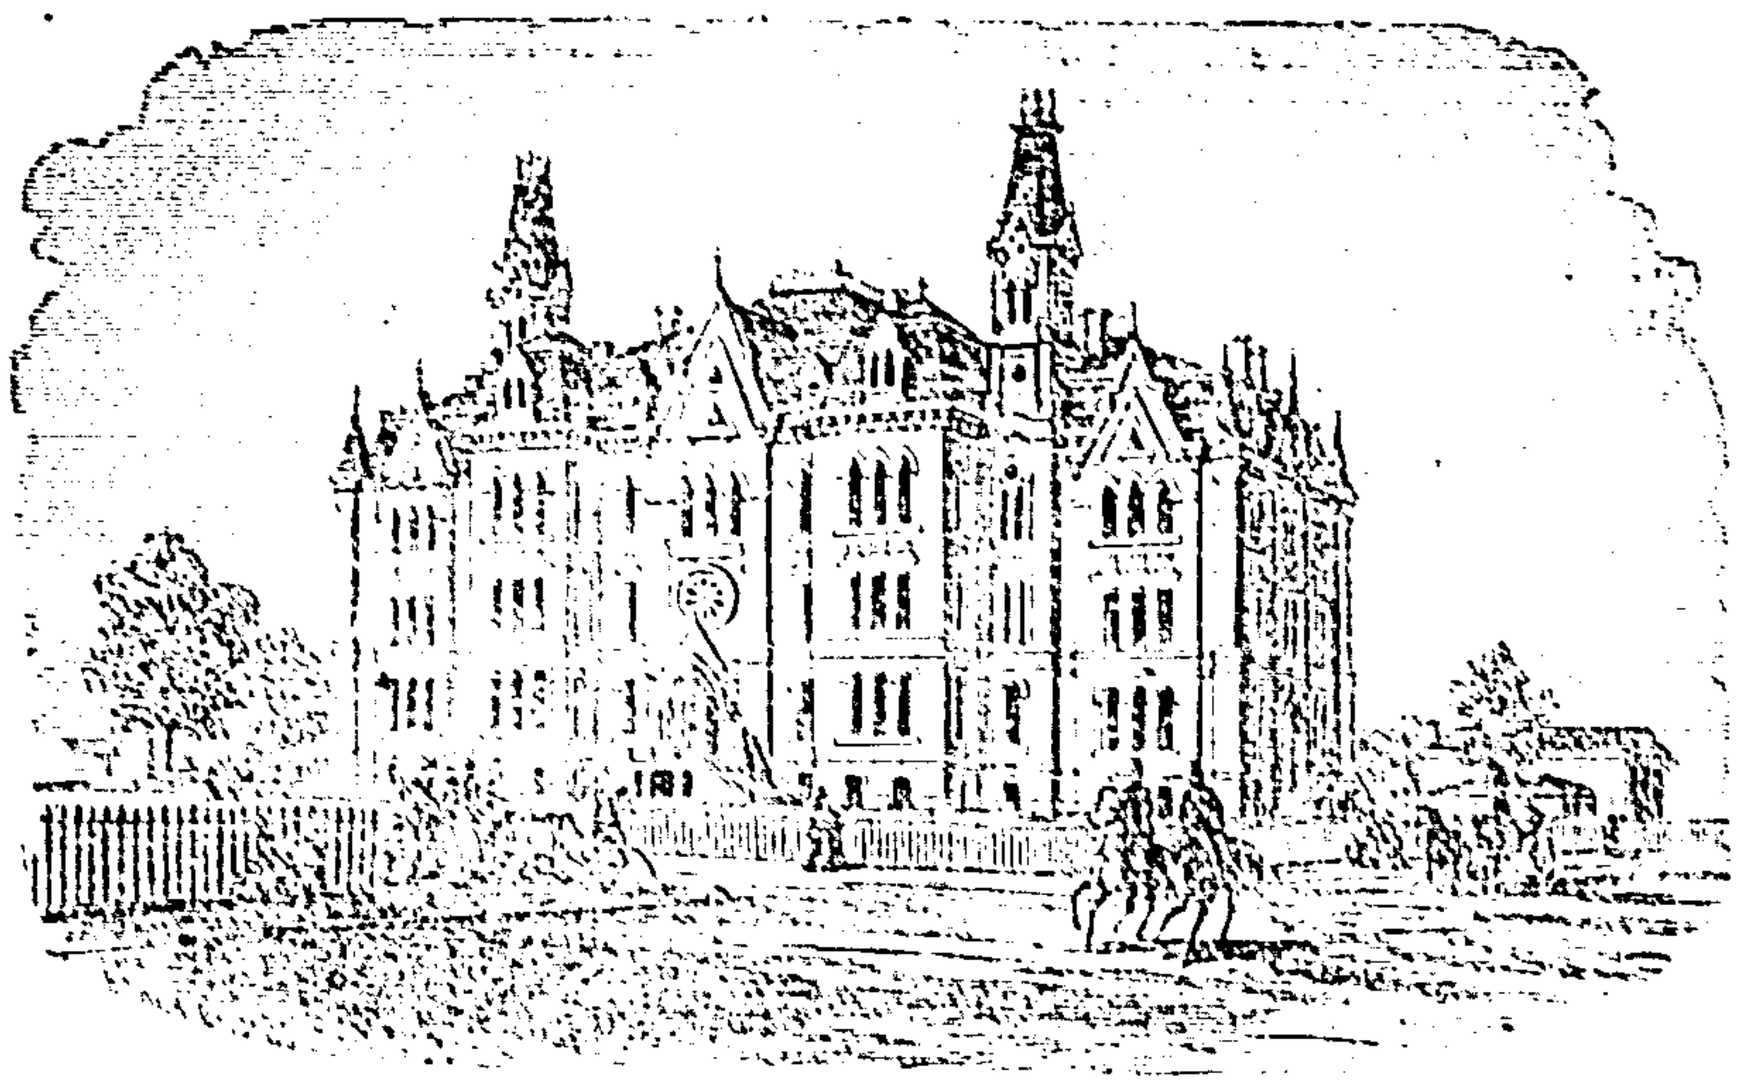
Was organized November, 1871, to construct a road from Terre Haute in a southwesterly direction, to a point on the Mississippi river, opposite the Iron Mountain, being in this State 20 miles, and whole length 175 miles. The following persons, residents of Terre Haute, organized the company, viz: W. B. Tuell, R. S. Cox, O. J. Smith, J. H. O'Boyle, A. Deming, P. Hussey, A. McGregor, J. S. Beach, C. Y. Patterson, J. G. Williams, F. C. Crawford, J. B. Hager, James Seath, G. F. Ripley, Wm. Paddock, G. W. Bement, J. T. Scott, J. B. Edmunds, Samuel Royse, J. P. Baird.

The officers are W. B. Tuell, President; P. Hussey, Treasurer; J. McGregor, Secretary; W. J. Ball, Chief Engineer.

DIRECTORS.—W. B. Tuell, A. McGregor, J. H. O'Boyle, G. F. Ripley, R. S. Cox, O. J. Smith, P. Hussey.

LOGANSPORT, CRAWFORDSVILLE & SOUTHWESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

This road, in progress between Logansport and Rockville, has been constructed to within 15 miles of the former place. The distance from Logansport to Rockville is 90 miles. The length of the line has been increased to 113 miles by a lease of the Rockville extension of E. & C. R. R. It is confidently expected that the whole line from Logansport to Terre Haute will be operated on and after the 4th of July next. John Lee, President; Wm. R. Cutler, Manager and Financial Agent.



INDIANA STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

BY PROF. WM. H. WILEY.

The educational institutions of Terre Haute have long been a source of just pride to her citizens. From the organization of her Public Schools to the present time there has been a steady increase in scholars, school accommodations and number of teachers employed by the Board of Trustees. These schools consist of the Primary and Grammar Schools, and a High School, with the usual courses of study prescribed in institutions of their respective classes. There are now seven magnificent brick school buildings and one frame building belonging to the city. The High School has ample accommodations in the State Normal School building. To indicate the growth and extent of these schools it is sufficient to state that sixteen teachers were employed during the school year of 1864-5, thirty-two in 1868-9, and fifty-four in 1871-2. During the year 1870-1 three thousand four hundred children were enrolled on the school list. The number this year will be still larger.

The schools are divided into twelve grades, four of which are comprised in the course of study prescribed for the High School, and eight grades in the Primary and Grammar Schools. The course of study is such as generally to require pupils to remain in each grade for one school year. This arrangement gives a free school to all the children of the city for the period of twelve years.

Scholars in all the grades are taught by experienced teachers, and subjected to careful and systematic examination previous to promotion.

As soon as pupils have completed the branches required by the law of the State, viz: Spelling, Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, English Grammar, History of the United States, and Physiology, they are promoted to the High School. In this school the higher Mathematics, German, Latin, Greek, and Natural Sciences are carefully taught, thus enabling parents to give their children a thorough education at home. Our people are pledged to the maintenance of these schools and pay their money most willingly to improve them every year.

Last year the Board of Trustees expended sixty-eight thousand dollars for tuition and new buildings. This year the pay of teachers alone will amount to over thirty thousand dollars.

THE INDIANA STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

Is located here. This school occupies the most magnificent school building in the West. The institution was opened in January, 1870, with Prof. Wm. A. Jones, A. M., as President. Under his supervision, by which his previous reputation as one of the best educators to be found in the West, has been abundantly sustained—the school has already proved a grand success. Three hundred and sixty students have been in attendance since its organization, and one hundred and thirty are in attendance at the present time, May 1, 1872.

The institution will, at the close of the present school year, have graduated nine students after a full course of study and training for the profession of teaching, besides having furnished a large number of teachers to the State, whose circumstances prevented them from pursuing the full course of study, but yet who, in the preparation received, added largely to their usefulness in the great work of education.

Two hundred thousand dollars were expended by the State in providing the splendid edifice of this institution, a cut of which adorns these pages, and liberal appropriations are made year by year for its maintenance. Terre Haute justly regards it as one of her crowning ornaments.

With our excellent system of public schools, with a thorough High School at the head, and the State Normal School, supplemented by its model Training School, we are bold to say that Terre Haute possesses educational advantages unsurpassed by any other city in the West, and equalled by few anywhere in the land.

CHURCHES.

Terre Haute, whilst noted for its material prosperity, and full of promise for the future, has not neglected her higher interests, as witness her schools and churches. Of the latter there are sixteen in all, some of which have excellent and even elegant houses of worship, whilst others occupy more unpretending sanctuaries.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Was constituted July 9th, 1836, with nine members. The first pastor of this church was Rev. S. K. Sparks, who in his ripe old age, is still a resident of this city. The successive pastors of the church have been Revs. Joseph Dirkson, Wm. Leggett, F. Snyder, David Taylor, J. R. Ash, Edward G. Taylor, and S. M. Stimson, the present pastor, who has entered upon his eighth year of service. In 1861 the present house of worship, a plain brick chapel was erected, which it is intended soon to supercede with a more commodious building. The present membership of the church is 280. It sustains two Sunday schools, besides the home school held in the church, with an aggregate attendance of between four and five hundred scholars, and teachers.

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Has the most imposing church edifice in the city; located near the business center it enjoys the advantage of location and affords ample room for its large and flourishing membership and congregation. The church was constituted in 1834 and it is therefore one of the oldest churches in this section of the State. The first pastor of this church was Rev. M. A. Jewett, D. D., who served twenty-six years. He still resides here, a veteran servant of Christ, who has lived to see the fruit of his early labors manifest in the present generation, in a wide and deep laid influence for good. He was succeeded in the pastorate by Rev. Lyman Abbott, who in turn gave place to the present pastor, Rev. E. F. Howe. The church owns a neat building called "Plymouth Chapel," towards the suburbs of the city, in which a flourishing Sunday school is sustained, and during a part of the year regular preaching services.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

In Terre Haute, was organized by Evangelist M. R. Trimble and others, on the 28th day of June, 1841, with twenty members, only one of whom now resides here. The church has enjoyed the pastoral labors successively of W. F. Black, President of N. W. C. University, Indianapolis; Rev. C. W. Cure and others. Rev. B. B. Tyler is the resident minister at this time, having served the church since Dec. 1, 1869. Since the organization of the church nearly 600 persons have been received into its fellowship. The present membership is 200. The congregation occupies a chapel, the cost of which has been about $12,000. The basement only being finished is occupied for public services. With an outlay of $3,000 to complete the edifice it will be made one of the best in the city. The church sustains a flourishing Sunday school of between one and two hundred scholars.

THE PARISH OF ST. STEPHENS CHURCH

Was organized on the 15th day of April, 1840. Col. Thos. H. Blake and W. F. Krumbhaar were elected Senior and Junior Wardens, and Dr. E. Daniels, Levi Warren, Jacob Bourne and John Rutledge were elected Vestrymen. Rev. Chas. Prindle, Missionary of the Protestant Episcopal Church to this place was invited by the vestry to be the rector of the parish. He was succeeded by Rev. Robt. B. Croes, in September, 1842. In 1845 a church edifice was erected on the west side of Fifth street, between Main and Mulberry streets. Rev. Mr. Croes resigned in May, 1850, and was succeeded in July of the same year by the Rev. Chas. P. Clark, who in turn was succeeded by Rev. D. D. Van Antwerp in December, 1852, Rev. W. G. Spencer in August, 1855; Rev. Chauncey Fitch in September, 1861; Rev. Thos. Mills Martin in December, 1863; Rev. Thomas R. Austin in August, 1870. Rev. S. Burford, of Alexandria, La., has accepted a call and will enter upon his duties on the third Sunday after Trinity, 1872. The present church edifice was erected in 1862, at a cost of $12,000. A new organ was purchased in 1871, at an expense $2,500. The present number of communicants is 143.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

The Asbury M. E. Church was organized as early as 1830. Smith L. Robinson was the first preacher in charge. The church edifice was erected in 1841; its value with the lots is about $40,000. The present membership of the church is four hundred. Two Sunday schools are sustained, one at the church, of three hundred scholars, and a mission school with one hundred scholars. Rev. James Hill is pastor, having served since 1870.

The Centenary M. E. Church was organized August 14th, 1865, with about two hundred and twenty-five members, previously connected with the Asbury M. E. Church. A lot was purchased the same year for a site, and the church edifice erected in 1866, the lecture room only being completed that year. In 1870 the audience room was completed and dedicated September 11. The total cost of the property has been about $40,000. The present membership of the church is four hundred and fifty. Rev. James W. Green is pastor at this time, and the church sustains a flourishing Sunday school with about four hundred scholars.

PRESBYTERIAN.

The First Presbyterian church was organized in 1832. Rev. Mr. Wallace was the first pastor. He was succeeded in turn by Revs. A. C. Allen, I. N. Shannon, T. P. Gordon, D. D., George Morrison, and J. T. Lapsley. The present pastor is Rev. Alexander Sterrett, who commenced his labors about the first of May, 1872. Present number of members is two hundred. The church sustains a Sunday school which numbers one hundred and eighty scholars and teachers.

SECOND PRESBYTERIAN.

This church was organized December 31st, 1848, under the name of the "Baldwin Presbyterian Church," which name was changed in January, 1868, to the "Second Presbyterian Church of Terre Haute." It was constituted with twelve members, and Rev. Wm. M. Cheever chosen pastor. He was succeeded by Revs. J. G. Wilson, H. W. Ballentine, D. E. Bierce, Henry S. Little, and the present pastor, Rev. Blackford Condit, who has served the church since February, 1868. The present membership of the church is one hundred and twenty. The Sunday school numbers one hundred and twenty-five scholars.

GERMAN LUTHERAN.

This church was organized in 1848. The first pastor was Rev. A. H. Luken. The church edifice, erected in 1858, cost about $3,000. The church numbers sixty and the Sunday school eighty members. Rev. H. O. Schmidt is the present pastor and superintendent of the Sunday school.

ROMAN CATHOLIC.

Terre Haute has two large Catholic Churches, established at an early day, and sustained by a large and respectable portion of the citizens of the city and surrounding country. The first of these, St. Joseph's, has a large and commodious church edifice, centrally located on Fifth street, between Ohio and Walnut. The second, St.

Benedict's, (German), has a substantial church edifice, located corner of Ninth and Ohio streets. "Providence Hospital," under the charge of this denomination, located in the northeastern part of the city, at a cost of $200,000, will be opened within a few weeks. It is one of the chief benevolent institutions of this city and State.

NOTE.—The above list comprises the churches of the city, with the exception of three or four, the statistics of which have not been furnished the publishers.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.

BY C. J. BRACKEBUSH, ESQ.

The advantages of Terre Haute as a business center, with its superior facilities for manufacturing, its social, educational and religious advantages, have been treated at some length in other articles in this work. They are attracting marked attention all over the country. The question naturally arises, "what is the price of real estate" and "how are taxes and insurance?" The price of land in and about Terre Haute is at very moderate figures. We may safely say that there is no place in the country possessing like advantages in which the man of moderate means can become possessed of a home on so favorable terms as in Terre Haute. Building lots within easy distance of the business center or in close proximity to the extensive manufacturing establishments are to be had at reasonable prices and on easy terms, so that the humblest citizen may, if he will, own his home, and the great majority of our citizens have availed themselves of this advantage. The character of our inhabitants is, therefore, of a much higher order than if we had more of a floating population. The growth of Terre Haute has never been spasmodic, but always steady and healthy. The population has doubled heretofore every eight years, and it is increasing at the present time at a much more rapid rate, owing to the addition of new railroad facilities and the location of their machine shops, and other extensive manufactories. Terre Haute may safely calculate on having at least 40,000 inhabitants in 1880. To persons seeking to make safe and profitable investments in real estate or manufacturing, Terre Haute offers inducements not excelled by any city in the country. The assessed value of taxable property in Terre Haute is $9,000,000. The real value of all property, including school and church property will not fall short of $20,000,000. The rate of city, county and State taxes for 1871 was only $2.40 on the hundred dollars. Insurance is as low in this city as in any place in the west. All of the leading companies are well represented and they are well satisfied with the business, the city having been always noted for its exemption from large and destructive fires. The fire department is well organized and most efficient, with two steam fire engines of the most approved patterns, and an abundance of hose, as also a hook and ladder company. The firemen are well and thoroughly drilled in their duties and prompt in the discharge of the same. They are paid by the city. We will also soon have completed a system of water works on the Holly plan, which will complete our facilities for extinguishing fires, so as to leave nothing further to be desired for the protection of all against loss by fire.

IMPORTANT INTERESTS.

Closely connected with the mining, manufacturing and commercial interests already exhibited in these pages, are the facilities by which the unlimited resources of this section of country are to be further developed, and our vast mineral wealth utilized. Our business men, impressed with the importance of securing every possible advantage to Terre Haute to which she is justly entitled by her position, have wisely entered upon new railroad enterprises which, in addition to the several excellent roads already completed and in successful operation, will make our communication with every section of the country all that could be desired. The article on railroads to be found elsewhere in this pamphlet was confined mainly to the origin, progress and present condition of the different roads entering here, with a brief reference to those in contemplation.

From the first of these new enterprises, the "Cincinnati & Terre Haute Railway," already in process of construction, it is clear to be seen that at no distant day we shall reap large results as a city. The $100,000 stock taken in this road by Terre Haute shows at once the faith of our citizens in the enterprise and the wisdom which has foreseen where the true interests of the city lie. The essential condition of her future rapid growth and prosperity now consists in opening up new avenues of trade and in shortening the distances between ourselves and the chief commercial centers of the continent. Under the efficient management of its officers, who are pushing it forward toward early completion, the public have a sure guarantee that nothing will be left wanting to make Terre Haute more of a commercial and manufacturing center than ever has yet been pictured to the imagination of her most sanguine citizens.

As stated elsewhere in an article on "coal mines," the block coal fields through which this road passes are but a few miles distant from the city, and any manufacturing interest established there will contribute largely to our material welfare.

The managers of the Cincinnati and Terre Haute Railway Company, with commendable enterprise and liberality, are offering every inducement to secure the location of manufacturing interests near our city, as evinced by the following proposition:

"Desirous of enlisting the attention of manufacturers to the advantage of locating manufacturing establishments upon the line of their Railway, will give to any rolling mill or Blast Furnace Company so locating, forty (40) acres of ground for works, and the coal in one hundred (100) acres of Clay or Owen county, Indiana, block coal field; the ore from one hundred (100) acres of the Hardin, Pope or Massac, Illinois, brown hematite beds, and agree to furnish them with all orders for merchant iron required for the railway's use for a period of two years.

To any Railway Car Manufactory located upon its line, they will give twenty (20) acres of ground required for works, the timber from one hundred (100) acres of the best oak timbered land in Owen county, and an order for one thousand cars to commence work upon.

To any car wheel foundry or axle forge, the necessary grounds for works, and liberal orders for their products in kind.

To all other manufacturing establishments ample facilities in the locating and successful prosecuting of their works."

A second enterprise of great importance to the manufacturing and commercial interests of Terre Haute is the projected Southwestern Railroad, to which reference has already been made. The leading object in locating and planning this road is to connect the block coal in the vicinity of Terre Haute with the Iron Mountain of Missouri by the shortest line, upon low grades and easy curvature. Fortunately for this enterprise, the country over which the line is projected is peculiarly favorable for the construction of such a road. The maximum grade will be thirty feet to the mile, and curvatures not exceeding three degrees; but the country is so favorable that grades and curvatures far within these extreme limits may be obtained on the greater portion of the line. The paramount importance of maintaining these features in a road designed largely for heavy transportation of coal and iron ore will be apparent to all railroad men.

The general direction of this road will be southwest from Terre Haute to the Mississippi river, crossing the Wabash river between Darwin and York, into the State of Illinois. From the crossing of the Wabash to the Ohio and Mississippi railroad, the line will pass over a series of prairies interspersed with white and burr oak timber. These lands are unsurpassed in beauty and fertility, and for the greater portion of the distance we pass over well improved farms.

A railroad through this country will at once be supported by a heavy business in the transportation to market of the large surplus of wheat, corn, hogs and cattle already produced, to be greatly augmented by the advantages of railroad transportation. The direction of the road is also a striking feature in its favor, pointing northeast, as it does, affording the most direct route to all the great markets on the sea board, and also to Chicago, Cincinnati, and Pittsburg. At its western terminus on the Mississippi river—it will connect with the Iron Mountain road, and with the great lines across the State of Missouri and southward through Arkansas to Texas, and westward to the Pacific Ocean. The completion of this new enterprise at an early day, is positively assured, as it is in the hands of capitalists who have alike the foresight to plan and the will to execute. It only remains for the different sections of country through which the road may pass, to show their appreciation of the enterprise by liberal subscriptions to its stock in order to secure its immediate construction through the entire line.

The Evansville, Terre Haute and Chicago Railway is completed and operated with gratifying success from Terre Haute to Danville, Illinois. This road is part of a direct through line, 440 miles in length, just perfected between Chicago and Nashville, Tennessee.

The distance from Terre Haute, Indiana, to Danville, Illinois, is fifty-four miles, embracing the far-famed Wabash Valley, rich not only in agricultural products, but the entire line of the road abounds in coal. The coal seams vary in quality from caking steam to white ash semi-block, ranging in thickness from 4½ to 6 feet.

Iron ore, very valuable for mixing with the richer ores of Lake Superior, abounds in several localities close to the line of this road.

By this line Chicago and the intermediate country receive their chief supplies of coal for fuel and the manufacture of iron, affording at the same time the cheapest route for supplying the fast multiplying furnaces and rolling mills of Brazil and Terre Haute with the ores of Lake Superior by the Terre Haute & Indianapolis Railroad, which runs through the heart of the block coal region. This celebrated coal is brought on down grades to this road, the grade being 26 4-10 per mile only, (and any other necessitates grades of over fifty feet,) and constitutes the shortest, cheapest practical line between the block coal fields and Chicago.

A road is now being constructed from Knightsville, a town on the Vandalia road, distant only a few miles from our city, to Center Point, Clay county, with a view to reach a deeper, better vein of block coal and also to develop the mines of iron ore, immense deposits of which underly that entire section, and also Greene county. This road will be completed to Centre Point by fall, and extended to Bowling Green at an early day. These prominent enterprises cannot fail to impress the capitalist and manufacturer seeking investment, with the advantage of the position which Terre Haute now holds; and together with her unfailing supply of water, her educational, religious and social privileges, point clearly to her as one of the most attractive and important cities in the west.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER OF PROF. J. W. FOSTER,

THE EMINENT GEOLOGIST AND MINERALOGIST,

To the New York Tribune.

"If we consult a map on which are indicated the ore deposits in the Lake Superior region and the Iron Mountain of Missouri and the deposits of fossil fuel as well as the several routes of transportation, both natural and artificial, we shall find that the bringing the iron ores and the coal together for the manufacture of iron can be effected more cheaply within the outline of the block coal region of Indiana, of which Terre Haute is the natural focus, than at any other point. It should be borne in mind also that there is a market on the western slope of the Mississippi valley for all the iron and steel which can be produced in the coal fields of Indiana. With the best crude materials thus at command the iron masters of Indiana, exercising a reasonable skill, ought to be able to defy competition."

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The following extracts show in what respect our sister cities of Indianapolis and Lafayette hold Terre Haute as a manufacturing and a business point. The Indianapolis Evening Journal in a leading editorial says:

"If anything were needed to impress our citizens with the necessity of building a short road to the coal fields, it is to view the project from the Terre Haute standpoint. We may talk boldly, but there is no getting around the fact that Terre Haute offers superior attractions to capitalists. Her railroad facilities are good, and she can furnish coal for manufacturing purposes at least twenty per cent. cheaper than we can. Now the only way to counteract these advantages is to build a road which will secure like facilities to Indianapolis. In doing this it will be well to emulate the unanimity of feeling which makes the great strength of our neighbor's position. She has less wealth than we have, but her capitalists are thoroughly identified with her interests. They are filled with city pride, and have the wildest faith in her future. They are even now in correspondence with manufacturers abroad, and within a few days arrangements have been made to build a large rolling mill. The stock was subscribed on sight, and a few prominent citizens are ready to advance more capital if necessary."

The Lafayette Courier justly and courteously compliments our beautiful and prospering city as follows:

"Terre Haute builds an Opera House at an expense of $180,000 with half the flurry and less friction than it cost Lafayette to commence a $30,000 affair. We shall build our Opera House with Terre Haute nails (the best in the market)—an involuntary but just tribute to her superior enterprise, which, after inviting the establishment of a nail factory in the midst of her productive industry, fostered it by home patronage, sustained it with cheap money, and as the reward of her liberality and her enterprise gives employment to hundreds of men, and plants the foundation of her prosperity deep and strong. The smoke of her factories by day and the light of her furnaces by night—the pillar and the cloud—show where she leads the way."

NOTE.—We have requested the Treasurer of the cities of Fort Wayne, Indianapolis and Evansville to send us the figures to enable us to present an exhibit of their finances as above. They have declined to grant our request, no doubt, for also the indebtedness and taxes of their cities would compare unfavorably with our own. We got the amount of the indebtedness of Evansville from one of her leading citizens, but have since been informed it is much greater.

MANUFACTURING ESTABLISHMENTS,

BUSINESS HOUSES AND PROFESSIONS.

The following brief notices do not embrace all the manufacturing interests, business houses, or professions of the city, as can be seen by reference to the Business Directory.

These sketches are simply courtesies due to those parties, who by their assistance, have enabled us to present this exhibit of the advantages and attractions of Terre Haute, and also to publish a Complete City Directory.

To these patrons are the citizens of Terre Haute indebted for whatever good may come from this publication.

BLAST FURNACE.

THE VIGO IRON COMPANY, established in this city in 1866, commenced operations in 1870. Alexander Crawford, of New Castle, Pa., is President, and A. J. Crawford, of this city, Superintendent. The establishment is exclusively devoted to the manufacture of pig iron, it being one of the largest blast furnaces in this region. The block coal in which this section of country abounds is here utilized in the smelting of the rich iron ores from Iron Mountain, Missouri, together with ores from Lake Superior, and also from those which abound hereabouts. The success of the enterprise proves Terre Haute to be one of the best locations in the country for the manufacture of iron.

BOILER WORKS FOUNDRY AND IRON WORKS.

Eclipse Boiler Works is under the management of M. J. Spracklen, F. H. McElfresh and J. G. Bernard, under firm style of Spracklen & Co.

Boilers, tanks, breechings, stacks, and in fact all kinds of sheet iron work is made at these works, and repairing done on short notice with neatness and dispatch. None but the most competent workmen are employed here, and the class of work will equal any in the West. A careful examination of their prices is invited.

The Eagle Iron Works, J. A. Parker, proprietor, have become one of the prominent interests of Terre Haute. Stationary and portable steam engines, flouring and saw mill machinery, corn shellers, cane mills, scrapers of every description, testing drills, coal shaft machinery, patent adjustable school seats and desks, iron and brass castings, are made here to order and with all the modern improvements.

Cliff & Son's boiler Works, has been recently united with this establisment, and in addition to the class of work mentioned above, there are manufactured boilers, tubular and cylinder, iron tanks, smoke-stacks, breechings and sheet iron work of all kinds. All kinds of machinery is repaired here in the most satisfactory manner.

The Phoenix Foundry and machine shops of McElfresh & Bernard is located corner of Ninth and Eagle streets. Steam engines, mill machinery, house fronts, fire fronts, circular saw mills, and all kinds of brass and iron castings are made here, as well as repair work of every description. All parties connected with this establishment being practical mechanics of many years experience, satisfaction can be assured to all their customers, both in workmanship and prices.

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORIES.

SCOTT, OREN & CO., proprietors of the Terre Haute Coach Works, on Cherry street, between Third and Fourth, carry on the largest business in their line of any establishment in the city.

They employ about twenty workmen, and turn out some of the finest specimens of carriages and fine buggies to be found anywhere in the market. Their work is all guaranteed, and no one can fail to be suited at their shops, both as to styles and prices.

The popular names of SCOTT, GRAFF & Co. has long been associated with the finest built carriages, buggies, or spring wagons of Indiana. The members of this firm are all practical workmen, giving constant and personal attention to all their business, and having been long established in their business, are fully prepared to put up a job on the shortest notice, and with most modern improvements. All work warranted. Ready made work in large variety always on hand.

WILDAY & POTTS are one of the oldest manufacturing interests in the city.

They make a specialty of fine carriages and buggies, and sell a large amount of the same in Vigo and adjoining counties. The price and character of their work will compare favorably with that of the best Eastern makers, the rapid and constant increase of their business being evidence of the same. All the work of this establishment is warranted, and put up in the latest styles.

FLOURING MILLS.

The Merchants' Flouring Mill, owned by R. L. Thompson, is the largest in this section of the State. It has eight run of burrs and a capacity of three hundred barrels of flour per day, giving employment to forty hands. Special attention is given to high fancy grades of flour which are not excelled by any other mill in the State. The flour of this mill has acquired a standard reputation in New York and Boston markets, at remunerative prices.

JONES' FLOUR MILLS, Jones & Kern proprietors, situated corner Ninth street and Lafayette road, do not only a large amount of custom work, but have the reputation of making a superior grade of flour, which has not only a good local demand, but a large amount is shipped to other points. The highest market prices are paid for wheat, and all who do business with this firm will receive prompt and careful attention.

GAS AND STEAM FITTING.

A. REIF, SEN., gas and steam pipe fitter, and dealer in gas fixtures, chandeliers, etc., etc., Ohio street, between Fifth and Sixth. Mr. R. was for many years in business in Cincinnati, and is familliar with all details of his business, and giving personal attention to the same, all business entrusted to him is promptly attended to.

PLANING MILLS.

Prairie City Planing Mills are owned by Messrs. Clift & Williams, who have been established in Terre Haute for many years. Their large establishment gives employment to forty-five men, engaged in manufacturing sash, doors, blinds, mouldings, stairs, stair railings, ballusters, etc., etc. This firm deal extensively in lumber, lath and shingles, and are considered among the most reliable business men of the city. Their annual sales amount to nearly $100,000, and is rapidly increasing.

PLOW FACTORY.

The Terre Haute Plow Manufactory is located on First street, between Main and Ohio. Philip Newhart is proprietor. Mr. Newhart commenced business with limited resources a few years since, but with a purpose to make only a first-class implement, and to warrant each one. He makes every description of plows, and has built up an extensive trade.

STAVE FACTORY

of E. M. Gilman, near the I. & St. L. R. R. depot, gives employment to twenty men, and turns out an immense amount of finished stock for barrels. This is the only establishment of the kind in the city, and large quantities are shipped to other points. Mr. Gilman being a practical mechanic, as well as cooper of many years experience, has secured an extensive reputation for the superiority of his work.

WOOLEN MILLS.

Wabash Woolen Mill, G. F. Ellis, proprietor, was established in 1854, corner of First and Walnut streets. The mill gives employment to forty hands, and manufactures flannels, yarns, tweed and jeans, making a specialty of the latter, and has secured a wide and enviable reputation for the quality of their goods. A large amount of their goods is shipped to Illinois, Missouri and Kansas, which fact, together with the length of time they have been in the market (18 years), is sufficient guarantee of the character and price of the same.

The Vigo Woolen Mills are located on the corner of Main and Tenth streets. Messrs. S. S. Kennedy & Co., proprietors, manufacture cassimeres, jeans, tweeds, flannels, yarns, etc., etc. All kinds of custom work done at this mill, and in the most satisfactory manner. Messrs. Kennedy & Co. are extensive dealers in wool for shipment and their own use, and always pay the highest market prices in cash, or will exchange their goods for wool on liberal terms.

CAR WORKS.

The Car Works of Seath & Hagar were established but a few years since, and under their efficient management very soon took rank with the largest manufacturing interests in this section of the country, and now give employment to one hundred and forty men, and do a business of over half a million dollars. These works use over 2,000,000 feet of lumber, 3,500 tons cast iron, and 1,000 tons of wrought iron, annually. No better cars are made anywhere, and being located where the best of timber is abundant, they enjoy special facilities in manufacturing.

CONFECTIONERY.

The Union Steam Bakery and Candy Manufactory of Frank Heinig & Brother is one of the largest and most complete establishments of the kind in the State. Their goods embrace every variety of fancy confectionery as well as staple articles, and the extensive trade which they have built up in the line of bread, crackers, and cakes, attests their superiority.

W. H. Scudder, 104 Main street, keeps one of the best appointed confectionery establishments to be found in the city. He makes a specialty of furnishing parties with all the delicacies of the season at short notice. He also manufactures all kinds of confectionery for the wholesale trade, and does a large business in the jobbing trade, of fire works, nuts, fruits and cigars.

DRUGGISTS.

Buntin & Armstrong, Pharmaceutists and wholesale and retail druggists, No. 168 Main street, keep a large general assortment of drugs and manufacture a full line of fine pharmaceutical preparations, such as elixirs of calisaya bark, valerianate of ammonia, beef, iron and wine, syrups of phosphates of iron, compound syrup of phosphates and hydro phosphates of iron, soda, potassa, etc., which for elegance and medicinal strength, are considered by the medical profession equal, if not superior to any similar preparations made in this country.

Gulick & Berry, wholesale dealers in drugs, medicines, chemicals, paints, oils, glass, etc., corner of Fourth and Main streets, do an extensive jobbing trade, which has been built up within a few years past by tireless energy, and attention to the demands in their line, of all the region naturally tributary to Terre Haute. Theirs is the leading house of the kind in this city. A complete assortment may always be found at their establishment.

DRY GOODS.

Warren, Hoberg & Co., dealers in fancy and staple dry goods, have one of the largest establishments of the kind in Terre Haute. Centrally located in the "Opera House Block," with every facility for doing business which ample accommodations, large capital, and eminent business capacity and experience could combine, this firm commands, as it deserves, a most extensive trade. A member of the firm, Mr. L. B. Root, being constantly in New York, their facilities for the purchase of goods are unsurpassed. There is no better house of the kind in this or any city of the State.

Cash, Brother & Co., Wholesale dealers in foreign and domestic dry goods and notions, 04 Main street, is the only exclusive wholesale dry goods house in the city. They have built up a fine trade, which is an index to the prospective growth of that branch of business as the city increases in population and commercial importance.

Foster Brothers, dealers in dry goods, carpets, etc., have one of the most extensive establishments in this city. By enterprise and attention to business, this firm has, in two years time, become widely known, and attained to a leading position among the merchants of the State. They have also a store in New York city, one at Evansville, one at Fort Wayne, and one at Grand Rapids, Michigan, at all of which places they do a thriving business. Few young men excel the members of this firm in practical business capacity, as their success has already demonstrated, and their determination is to merit the patronage of the public by attention to its wants.

THE NEW YORK STORE, 73 Main street, is one of the largest dry goods and notions establishments in our city. The proprietor, F. Ruschhaupt and Co. have long experience in the trade, and take pleasure in furnishing goods of the best quality to their numerous customers, at low prices. Their stock includes also a full line of wall papers, decorations, curtain damask window shades, etc. They pay special attention to orders from abroad, and do business on the "one-price" system, doing equal justice to all.

TUEL, RIPLEY & DEMING, dealers in dry goods, 134 Main street, are among the oldest firms in their line of trade in this city. They always keep on hand a full assortment and do a large and successful business. The members of the firm are some of the most enterprising citizens of Terre Haute, such as have contributed in a large degree to her growth and prosperity. No better established house is to be found in the State.

MILLINERY GOODS.

J. W. Gaskill, dealer in millinery goods, and ladies' suits, No. 116 Main street, Opera House Block, keeps constantly on hand a full assortment of rich goods in his line. Go there and purchase if you would keep up to the latest fashions.

CLOTHING.

J. Erlanger Co., keep one of the largest stocks of ready-made clothing to be found in Terre Haute. They also do an extensive business in merchant tailoring. All work turned out from this establishment is warranted to give satisfaction. In both prices and styles of goods they are sure to please. Go to the Opera House Block, where you will always find the latest fashions, at their store.

NOTIONS.

U. R. Jeffers & Co., 140 Main street, are among our largest wholesale dealers in staple and fancy notions. They keep a complete stock of shirts, hosiery, gloves, etc., and are the exclusive agents for all goods made by the Vigo Woolen Mills. Twenty-one years' experience in the trade places them among the oldest established houses in Terre Haute.

T. H. Riddle, 151 Main street, keeps an extensive assortment of millinery goods, trimmings, fancy goods, etc., together with a large stock of jewelry, watches, clocks and silver ware. His motto is "buy close and sell cheap," and by doing business on that plan, he has built up an extensive trade in his various departments.

Messrs. Wittig & Dick are wholesale dealers in notions, fancy goods, white goods, etc., 148 Main street. This firm has been established but a few years, but have built up a very large trade, extending throughout Central and Southern Indiana and Illinois. They buy entirely from manufacturers, and can offer to the trade as low prices as New York or Boston Jobbers.

HAIR WORK.

Mrs. E. B. Messmore & Co., manufacturers of and dealers in real and imitation hair goods, nets, hair jewelry, and toilet articles, No. 7 South Fifth street, keep a complete and choice assortment of goods in their line. The ladies will always find the latest styles at this house, with prices which cannot fail to suit.

MUSIC.

W. H. Paige & Co., music dealers, corner of Sixth and Main streets, are agents for the "Chickering" piano, and Mason & Hamlin's organs. They keep also the "Weber" piano, band instruments, and every variety of musical goods usually kept in first-class establishments. Their rooms are centrally located, and by courteous attention to the requirements of their numerous customers, they have built up an extensive trade, based upon the merits of their goods and reasonable prices.

Anton Shide, principal of "Terre Haute Musical Institute," and agent for "Steinway's" pianos. Rooms on South Fifth street, between Ohio and Main. This institution affords the best facilities for a thorough musical education, at moderate cost. Careful attention is constantly given both to the theory and the practice of music in all its branches. He is also agent for the celebrated "Burdett Organ."

L. Kussner's Palace of Music, No. 48 Ohio street, is one of the institutions of Terre Haute which gives her the charter to put on metropolitan airs. Here you will find every imaginable musical instrument, from a jewsharp to a grand piano. A full stock of the celebrated "Knabe,"

"Steck," and other pianos constantly on hand, as also organs and melodeons, together with sheet music, instruction books, and musical merchandise of every description.

BOOKS.

O. Bartlett & Co., wholesale and retail bookseller's and stationers, at Nos. 151 and 159 Main street, do the largest business of any house in their line in the city. They do a large jobbing trade in school books, blank books, and stationery, at Cincinnati prices. One member of the firm travels largely, thus attracting an extensive trade from retail dealers in many of the smaller cities and towns of the State. Their success in business has demonstrated the fact that Indiana has use for books, as well as for coal and iron.

The Indiana State agency of the celebrated publishing house of J. B. Lippincott & Co., of Philadelphia, at the corner of Sixth and Main streets, C. D. Denio, Manager, bids fair to become one of our best book and stationery establishments. The stock is choice and select, comprising a full line, such as encyclopedias, dictionaries, works on science, art, religion, poetry, and general literature. None but standard works of true excellence kept.

BILL POSTER.

James M. Dishon is an Artist. His profession as the Bill Poster of Terre Haute, is a position which is honored by his prompt attention to business, of which his bill boards furnish most ample proof. Besides doing the scientific for this city, in his line, he also plies his art in our sister cities of New Albany and Jeffersonville, through agencies there established. All business entrusted to him is done at reasonable rates with neatness and dispatch.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Engles & Tutt, dealers in boots and shoes, 107 Main street, opposite the Opera House. This is the old and reliable Boston Boot and Shoe store, established in 1857. For choice selections of goods, in gentlemen's, ladies' and children's wear, this house is unsurpassed. Their stock comprises both Eastern made goods and goods of their own manufacture. They make fine calf, stitch or pegged boots, and guarantee a fit or no sale. In prices, as well as in the quality of their stock, they invite a comparison with any other establishment in the city or State.

COAL DEALERS.

W. O. Winn is extensively engaged in wood, coal, lime, lath, hair and cement. His office and yard is at the junction of Fifth and Lafayette streets. Mr. Winn was for a long time in the employ of the I. & St. L. R. R. Co., and with his extended acquaintance and excellent business connections, he is enabled to offer special inducements in quality as well as prices on all his stock. All orders receive his personal attention, and are filled with dispatch.

PAINTS, GLASS, AND WALL PAPER.

Robert Buckell, wholesale and retail dealer in glass, paints, oils, varnishes, wall paper, and painters' materials, No. 48 Ohio street, keeps a complete assortment of goods in his line. No one need look further than to his establishment to be satisfied both as to quality of stock or prices. In wall papers, curtain fixtures, etc., the most fastidious will here find all they may desire.

HARDWARE.

Cory & Co., 121 Main, and 1 and 6 Fifth streets, carry the most extensive stock of hardware of any house in Terre Haute. They occupy the five stories of a large block, besides a ware room for iron, etc., on the opposite side of the street. Every imaginable article in the hardware line, from a pocket compass up to the largest bar steel or iron, may be found in their stock. A look through it is almost bewildering, both on account of its variety and extent. They do an immense jobbing trade in every department, including iron, steel, nails, glass, wagon makers' materials, coopers' carpenters' and blacksmiths' tools, and farming implements.

Messrs. Shryer Bros., hardware dealers, 170 Main street have long resided here. They know the wants of the trade. Mr. J. G. Shryer was formerly with the house of Austin & Co. They are sole agents for the Laflin & Rand Powder Company, Siffin & Barnes Revolving Hay Rake, Victor Lawn Mower, all kinds of wagon and carriage work, lead, glass, oil, ropes, truckle blocks, agricultural goods, railroad supplies, sash, doors, blinds, circular and mill saws, shelf and builders' hardware, American and English cutlery. This firm occupy four stories for the storage of their goods, and a full assortment can always be found here, second to none in the State in quality or price. Prompt attention given to all orders by mail.

R. L. Ball, wholesale and retail dealer in stoves, tin plate, copper, sheet iron, tin ware, etc., No. 128 Main street, keeps constantly on hand a large and full assortment in his line of goods. He is one of the old established business men of Terre Haute, always up to the times, who by strict economy and attention to the details of business has come to rank among the most promising merchants of this city. You are sure to be satisfied and purchase when you learn his prices and examine his stock.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

Messrs. Jones & Jones, wholesale and retail dealers in farm machinery of all kinds, and general agents for the "Hagerstown Clover Huller," have one of the most extensive establishments in the State. They rank among our first-class business men, and by close attention to business have justly earned the reputation they enjoy for enterprise and liberal dealing. They give personal and prompt attention to all orders from abroad.

GROCERS.

Bowser & Johnston, wholesale grocers and liquor dealers, Nos. 1 and 2 Dowling Hall. This house is one of the four large establishments, in their line, in Terre Haute, devoted exclusively to the wholesale trade. They are agents for the "Golden Gate California Wines," and keep a full assortment and large stock of goods, and do an extensive business. It is to be doubted if any city in the West, of the size of Terre Haute, does a larger business in the wholesale grocery trade than she. Of this trade Messrs. B. & J. merit and receive their full share.

Hulman & Cox, wholesale grocers, corner of Fifth and Main streets, do an extensive business in their line. Their immense stock of goods includes wines, liquors, cigars, flour, salt, and everything else which goes to make up a complete assortment for the supply of their widely extended trade. Few establishments in any of the larger cities of the State equal theirs, and no better stock of goods need be looked for anywhere.

Bement & Co., wholesale grocers and dealers in teas, tobaccos, cigars, etc., corner of Sixth and Main streets, is one of the oldest and most extensive establishments of the kind in Indiana. The reputation of this firm is wide-spread, ranking the members among our first-class business men, who by their enterprise have raised Terre Haute to its present importance as a commercial center and prominent city of the State.

Messrs. Conner & Reed, dealers in groceries, provisions and feed, corner Third and Cherry streets. All kinds of country produce bought and best market prices paid for the same. A full assortment of groceries, butter, eggs, etc., are always to be found here, and honest weights and low prices is the motto of this house.

George H. Purdy, dealer in country produce, groceries and feed, Nos. 40 and 42 Main street, keeps constantly on hand a well selected stock of goods at the lowest market prices. He has recently added a feed department and is prepared to fill any order in that line. Mr. Purdy will pay the highest cash price for poultry, butter, eggs, rags, iron, etc., etc.

Jno. F. Roedel, dealer in groceries and provisions, corner First and Ohio streets. Mr. Roedel has always on hand a fine stock of foreign and domestic groceries, wines, liquors, fine fruits, flour, and all kinds of country produce, and at such low prices as cannot fail to satisfy all.

HOTELS.

The Terre Haute House is one of the largest hotels in the West. It contains one hundred and forty rooms, and having been recently refitted and refurnished in the most thorough manner, it is unsurpassed for the air of elegance and comfort which everywhere pervades it. Centrally located, it offers to the traveler every convenience of a home, and the proprietors, Wm. M. Hawkins & Son, having had twenty-five years experience in the business, spare no pains to minister to the comfort of their guests. Well known as the former keepers of the "Sherman House," Indianapolis, they maintain their widely-spread reputation in the Prairie City, with as well spread tables and all the concomitants of a first-class hotel as can be found in this or any other State.

The Buntin House is one of the old established hotels of Terre Haute, centrally located near the public square. The present proprietor, M. M. Redford, Esq., is well and widely known as a hotel keeper, having followed the business for the past twenty years, at Hickory Grove, Urbana, and Danville, Illinois.

National House, N. S. Patten, proprietor, is centrally located, being corner Sixth and Main streets, and under the present management has become one of the most popular houses in the State. Special attention given not only to the character of the table, but to the sleeping accommodations, which are noted for their cleanliness. Connected with this house is a fine billiard hall and refreshment rooms, owned by Ad. Lorey.

LIVERY.

The Prairie City Livery Stable Company embraces three first-class establishments, viz: The Fouts stable, the Opera stable, and the Thompson stable, at all of which there may be constantly found the best of horses and carriages, ready on short notice. Messrs. A. B. Fouts, W. R. Hunter, and A. J. Thompson, the proprietors and managers of these stables, are well known Livery men, long engaged in the business, and they spare no pains to meet the wants of the public. Their stables are located on Second street, between Cherry and Main, on the corner of Eighth and Main, and on Third street, between Walnut and Ohio.

Wolfe & McClung, livery and sale stables, at "Beauchamp's old stand," North Third street, between Cherry and Main. Horses and carriages ready on short notice to accommodate their numerous customers. They give personal attention to business, and command a full share of public patronage.

INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE.

Chas. E. Hosford, Attorney-at-law and General Insurance Agent, is the longest established of any agent in the city. He represents some of the best companies in the country, whose aggregate assets exceed $20,000,000. He also represents the North American Life Insurance Co., office corner of Fourth and Main streets.

Grimes & Royse, Real Estate and Collecting agents, office South Fifth street, between Ohio and Main, are well known and responsible gentlemen, thoroughly acquainted with their business. They attend to the purchase and sale of real estate, paying of taxes, etc., etc., for parties from abroad. All business entrusted to them will receive prompt attention.

C. J. Brackebush, real estate and insurance agent, office under the Prairie City Bank, devotes himself with untiring energy to his newly established business. He is well posted in the value of real estate, and devoted to the interests of Terre Haute. Parties wishing to make investments or to dispose of property, will always find him ready to serve them. In the insurance business he represents responsible companies, and writes risks at the lowest rates.

JUSTICE OF PEACE.

Zenas Smith, Justice of the Peace, is one of the old residents of the city. His office is on Ohio street, between Third and Fourth, where he gives prompt attention to all business entrusted to his care.

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW.

Messrs. Boudinot & Brown, Attorneys, do a general law business and are noted as successful Collectors. During ten years of practice in this and adjoining counties, they have acquired a fine reputation abroad, as well as the confidence of this community. Mr. Boudinot holds the office of United States Commissioner for this district. All business entrusted to them will receive prompt attention.

RESTAURANTS.

L. Holfelder's Ladies' and Gents' Restaurant, No. 9 South Fifth street, is one of the institutions of the city. The proprietor is an experienced professor of gastronomics, and his establishment is a model of neatness, where meals are served at all hours with promptness and attention to the wants of guests.

H. S. Moudy keeps a first-class Lunch Stand at the Union Depot, open both night and day. No better place can anywhere be found to refresh the inner man with the luxuries of the season than his stand.

SEWING MACHINES.

THE GROVEE & BAKER SEWING MACHINE AGENCY is under the mangement of N. H. Bledsoe, at 96 Main street. This is the only company that offers the purchaser the choice of stitch, and the only company also that gives crash hemmers with their machines. They stitch, hem, fell, cord, braid, quilt, puff, gather, and sew on ruffle, embroider, fringe, and excel in every style of machine sewing. Investigate, test inquire, compare, examine, prove the merits of each sewing machine in the market, then apply all possible tests to the Grover & Baker, and its superiority will be apparent. This machine has less working parts than any other Shuttle Machine in the world. Its capacity is without limit.

Z. S. Wheeler is Agent for the Weed Sewing Machine, office No. 7 South 5th street. This machine is one of the most popular made—being simple in construction, easy to operate, having a straight needle, with perfect feed and tension. The number of machines sold by this agency is rapidly increasing, which fact affords evidence of the merits of the machine and shows that the terms offered to purchasers, are as liberal as by any other equally good machine.

The Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Agency of this city is under the efficient management, of M. H. Schooley, with headquarters in Hudson,s block, opposite the Post Office. As evidence of appreciation of Mr. S. by the Company, an elegant salesroom has been fitted up here, offering to purchasers of machines every facility to thoroughly examine and test the same. A full stock of machine findings always on hand. During the past year 128,525 machines, or over 40,000 more than were sold of any other make for family purposes. The advantages of the "New Wheeler & Wilson" are its simplicity and durability of construction, therefore easily learned, not liable to get out of order, rapidity in execution of work, capacity of doing every variety of work, runs easy and will not tire the operator. The company offer $7,000 reward to other machines if they possess equal merits. Before buying elsewhere examine here this beautiful machine.

CARPET HALL.

RYCE'S CARPET HALL, No. 77 Main street, is exclusively devoted to the sale of Carpets, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Oil Cloths, and other house furnishing goods, such as Damasks, Lace Curtains, Ottomans, Hassacks, Mattings, etc., etc. The success of this establishment has demonstrated its necessity in our city. It has been achieved through tireless attention to business and a thorough appreciation of the wants of their customers, from far and near. They manufacture window shades to order, giving special attention to large and odd sizes for stores and offices. These goods are elegantly lettered and ornamented. To strangers visiting the city this establishment will repay the time for a visit, and prices are always put so low as to defy competition. Mr. Edward Walmsley, long connected with the house, is now one of the proprietors, and he will continue to devote his time to the business. With unusual facilities for the purchase of goods, and ample capital and brains to conduct the business, Ryce's Carpet Hall is secure as one of the prominent institutions of the Prairie City.

SADDLERY HARDWARE.

SLAUGHTER & KERKHOFF, wholesale dealers in Saddlery Hardware, No. 5 South Fifth street, keep on hand one of the largest assortments of goods in their line in the State. Having lately purchased the stock of Fred A. Ross and rented his extensive store, they stand at the head of the trade in this city. All orders from abroad, by mail or otherwise, promptly attended to. They have a large trade, both in Indiana and all Southern Illinois.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMIC INSTITUTE.

Under the charge of "Sisters of Providence," located in Vigo county, about four miles west from Terre Haute, is one of the most extensive educational institutions in the west. The location, near the Indianapolis & St. Louis railroad, removed from the noise and confusion of the city, embracing several hundred acres of woodland and cultivated orchards and vineyards, etc., etc., with extensive buildings, is unsurpassed, and the facilities which this institution affords for the prosecution of all the studies, either in literature, music or art, which go to make up a thorough female education, are of the highest character. The school year commences on the first of September. "MOTHER ANASTASIA," who has for many years past been connected with the school, has general charge of every department, and the order which everywhere pervades the institution, as well as the thorough discipline and kindly care which enter into its everyday life work, makes it at once a delightful home and a mental gymnasium for all who enjoy its advantages for culture and varied accomplishment.

GROCERIES.

R. W. RIPPETOE, proprietor of "The City Grocery, Provision and Produce Store," 155 Main street, has been in the trade for ten years past in Terre Haute. He is an old citizen and well known as one of our most enterprising and successful merchants. He keeps always on hand a large and full assortment of choice family groceries, and everything from his store is warranted to be of the best quality and fresh in the market. He also deals largely in fruit of all kinds in which this region abounds.

No more orderly arranged, neatly kept and well conducted establishment can anywhere be found. As to prices, Rippetoe gives satisfaction to all, and by attention to business he commands one of the best and most extensive lines of trade of any similar house in Terre Haute.

WHOLSALE BOOTS AND SHOES.

Crawford & O'Boyle represent the only exclusively wholesale Boot and Shoe house in Terre Haute. They have a large stock always on hand, bought of the best eastern manufacturers and are prepared to offer equal inducements to purchasers as Cincinnati, St. Louis or Chicago houses—their large and increasing trade being proof of the same. Orders from a distance receive prompt and careful attention, if from good men.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

One of the largest manufacturing establishments of Terre Haute is the Cigar and Tobacco Manufactory of N. KATZENBACH, 147 Main street. He has, in ten years, built up an extensive trade, to answer the demands of which he employs upwards of fifty hands, his annual sales reaching nearly $150,000. No finer cigars are made than those bearing the trade mark of this establishment, which is a full cut of the broad and genial face of the proprietor. Whilst returning fair profits upon the capital and business talent invested, this house at the same time, in the weekly wages paid its employees, affords a livelihood to many industrious families. It is to various manufactories conducted upon similar business principles and with corresponding enterprise that Terre Haute is to look for its future rapid development.

SASH, DOORS, BLINDS MANUFACTORY AND PLANING MILL

Of James Hook, Sr., is located on 3d, between Chestnut and Linton streets. Mr. Hook is one of the oldest residents of this city and has always taken a prominent part in the general welfare of the city, even at the sacrifice of his own pecuniary interests. His mill gives employment to a large number of skilled workmen, manufacturing Sash, Doors, Blinds Carved work, dressing Lumber, etc., etc. The work done here is equal to any in the State and lumber selected with great care. Contractors and parties contemplating building should see Mr. Hook first before purchasing elsewhere.

TRIMMING, VARIETY AND FANCY GOODS.

This branch of business is well represented by T. H. Riddle, 151 Main street. Mr. R. commenced here but a few years since with small capital and no acquaintance, but by close and personal attention to business, together with his honorable system of trade, a careful selection of good goods and selling the same at fair prices, he has built up a business of immense proportions. He now occupies two large rooms and he is about extending his salesroom for retailing to accommodate his increasing trade. Mr. R. does quite a large wholesale jobbing trade in millinery goods, notions, etc.

CLOTHING AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

Miller & Cox deal extensively in Clothing and Gents' Furnishing Goods and give special attention to the manufacture of Fine Clothing to order, all of which is warranted. "Perfect fits," "small profits and "one price," are the mottoes of this establishment. The members of this firm have always been known as reliable men and strangers and friends are alike honorably served. Their store is near the corner of 6th and Main streets. All are invited to call and examine the prices and stock of this house.

HAIR GOODS.

Medina's Parisian Hair Store is one of "the institutions" of the city. Mr. Medina is the only direct importer and manufacturer of Human Hair in the State. He also manufactures a superior Hoop Skirt. Select stocks of Bustles, Whalebone Corsets, Hoop Skirts and Fancy Goods can always be found here at reasonable prices. Special attention given to wedding and party outfits. The new and elegant store room on Main, between 6th and 7th streets, has been neatly fitted up expressly for Mr. Medina and where Mr. Vieira and other competent assistants will be pleased to meet their numerous friends.

Vieira's Toilet Shampoo, for the Hair, is patented by M. J. Vieira, of this city. This is truly a wonderful and useful preparation and an examination simply will convince the most skeptical of the fact. It cleanses the head without soap or water; makes the hair soft and glossy; prevents the hair from falling off, and heals diseased scalps and is superior for hair dressing. Can be found at "Medina's Parisian Hair Store," this city.

TIN AND SLATE ROOFING, ETC.

Moore and Haggerty are the only exclusive dealers and manufacturers of Galvanized Iron Cornice, Window Caps, Guttering, Tin and Slate Roofers in the city. They keep a select stock of Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware, and give particular attention to jobbing in Tin, Slate, Sheet Iron Work and warm air Furnaces and Ranges, and give employment to a large number of competent workmen who are constantly engaged in different parts of this State and Illinois. Contracts made for large public buildings and all work done by this house is warranted. Both members of the firm have had long experience in their business and personally superintend the same.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

Whitaker & Brennan, dealers in foreign and domestic liquors, wines, cigars, tobacco, etc., etc., corner of 6th and Tippecanoe streets, keep always on hand a choice assortment in their line.

BUCKEYE CASH STORE.

W. S. Ryce & Co., Proprietors. This is one of the oldest established Dry Goods Houses in the city. For the past three years the busines has been conducted in the elegant double store room in Beach's block, on the s. e. corner of Main and 6th streets. Occupying the finest salesroom and the best location in the city for retail trade, it is not surprising that it holds such a prominent place in popular favor. The appointments of this house are first-class in every respect, and are not excelled for convenience, elegance, variety and adaptation to the wants of the people, by any similar establishment in the west.

THE NEW YORK CITY STORE.

Among the many popular institutions of Terre Haute is that of Foster Brothers' Great New York City Store. The reputation of this firm is extending over the entire west, and their system of business and its rapidly growing dimensions, promise at no distant day to make them as widely known as Mr. A. T. Stewart, who has for so many years stood at the head of the retail dry goods and carpet trade. The success of this firm of young men—for the eldest is but thirty-four—is something very remarkable and is to be attributed to their system of retailing dry goods and carpets at wholesale prices, to their liberal but judicious system of advertising, and to their courteous and honorable treatment of all their customers. Ten years ago they had but one small store, which was located upon the corner of Bleecker and Commerce streets, in the city of New York. Their capital was very small, their experience slight and their acquaintance limited. But they possessed what was far more valuable—good character, industrious habits, and indomitable wills. Upon these they relied for the success that they have since then attained. They knew the road that lay before them was an up hill road, but they resolutely commenced the ascent. Very soon their store became too small for their business, when it was enlarged and otherwise improved. Not long afterwards they opened an additional store upon the Eighth Avenue, in the city of New York. In the fall of '68 they opened their third store, at Fort Wayne in the State of Indiana, a year and a half later their store at Terre Haute, Ind., the next year their store at Evansville, Ind., and this Spring their store at Grand Rapids, in the State of Michigan. All of these enterprises have proved abundantly successful and each of the stores are doing a very large and profitable business. Their combined sales are nearly a million of dollars yearly and the rate of increase never so great as now. We predict for this firm a most extraordinary future. Should their sales increase as rapidly during the next decade as they have during the last, they will then exceed in amount the sales of any retail dry goods firm in America. It is believed that before that time the sales of the Terre Haute Store alone will amount to over half a million dollars annually.

HUSHER'S

NEW

PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY,

J. W. Husher, the Artist, located in the elegant new rooms in Beach's block, corner of Sixth and Main streets, has the most handsomely fitted up gallery in this city.

His suite of rooms, consisting of a parlor, elegantly furnished with new furniture, the walls tastefully adorned with pictures of all styles and sizes, gems of Mr. Husher's art, a commodious operating room, lighted by a large sky-light, and a large side-light, and the

"MAGICIAN'S DARK ROOM."

Where the pictures are finished.

In fitting up these elegant rooms Mr. Husher has given to Terre Haute one of the most complete Picture Galleries in the West, and deserves the patronage of our citizens.

They are located over the Prairie City Bank, with one entrance on Sixth street, and another by the main hall of the building, from Main street.

This Gallery is stocked with a large supply of all the instruments and materials need to take pictures of allstyles and finish. Parties desiring Photographs colored can have it done by the best artists in Cincinnati and New York, with whom Mr. Husher has made arrangements for such work. The superior style in which he has always done work is a sufficient guarantee that he will be untiring in his efforts to please his patrons.
